Radio Station WSOX Replaces WFRP

By Sherman Roberson
Savannah's newest radio station, WSOX, replaced radio station WFRP. WSOX is the first radio station in Savannah to employ an all Negro broadcasting staff. The station is owned by the Fisher Broadcasting Company, headed by Albert T. Fisher, Jr., who recently purchased WFRP.

WSOX has featured local sports, including Savannah State College basketball games, and some of the local Negro high school athletic contests. The air personnel for these sports activities have been Roscoe Camp, Freshman, and James Nevels, Senior, at SSC.

The broadcasting staff includes the following: The Rev. George D. Walker, religious director, and pastor of Asbury Methodist Church. Mr. Walker is a graduate of Clarke College and Gammon on Theological Seminary of Atlanta, Georgia.

Thomas Poitte, radio announcer, a graduate of Alfred E. Beach High School and Savannah State College. Mr. Poitte was a radar operator in the United States Navy, and was a manager of the U. S. Sixth Fleet radio station for twelve months. Claude Roberts, disc jockey, is a nightclub singer and entertainer. James Wiley, disc jockey, is a local entertainer and president of the local chapter of the American Federation of Musicians. He is a dance instructor and dramatics coach for the Frank Callen Boys Club.

Proper Breathing Is Key to Better Health

People who sigh a lot may not need cheering up as much as they need breathing lessons, an article in the March Reader's Digest reveals. Says author W. P. Knowles: "Most of us are only half-breathers. We breathe in because we can't help it but we fail to breathe out completely."

"The sigh, he adds, is nature's way of deflating our lungs when we don't do the job properly ourselves."
Breathing out fully does more than clear the lungs. It helps clear the mind and prepare the body for strenuous action. Next time you turn the shower faucet to "cold," for example, try breathing out in a steady breath. You'll find the cold-water shock

Mr. Patterson emphasized the duties and aims of the YMCA, and praised it for its never-ending efforts to execute those duties and to realize those aims.

Savannah State Tigers Defeat Albany To Win SEAC Basketball Crown

By Roscoe Camp

The finals of the annual SEAC Conference were played at Albany State College, Albany, Georgia, February 19, 20 and 21. The top teams in the SEAC Conference were present. First place Savannah State Tigers shot their way to victory with wins over Claflin University and Albany State College.

In the opening game of the semifinals, the Tigers found the Claflin fire a easy foe, defeating them 61-76 and qualifying for the finals. Ira Jackson led the way with 20 points.

Du Pont Representative Addresses Students

By Sherman Roberson

Alvis S. Proctor, E. I. DuPont de Nemours and Company representative, was guest speaker at a special assembly held Wednesday, February 11, in Meldrim Auditorium of Savannah State College.

Mr. Proctor, manager of the Southern District of the DuPont Company's Extension Division, is an experienced public speaker with a background of more than 17 years in education, retail store management and industry.

He spoke on the topic "Progress Unlimited." He pointed out that there had been more material progress in the 20th century than in all previous history. He stated that progress does not just occur, but it is brought about by gifted, dedicated industrious people of that type. Mr. Proctor posed the question, "What new element, then, was added to provide this tremendous surge during the 20th century?" Answering this question, Mr. Proctor contrasted the trials and sacrifices of yesterday's lone wolf inventor with the economic strength of today's large corporation, which enables them to bring together teams of scientists, inventors and technologists, to place them in an environment of creativity, to free them from economic want and to put at their disposal every device to bring their projects to fruition. Mr. Proctor, in conclusion, said, "We can enjoy progress unlimited, so long as we can preserve the freedom of the individual, the freedom of the team that pools the individual talents, and the freedom of the inventor to provide the tools for the large and long-term risks."

After sweeping through the semifinals, the Tigers tackled the host team, Albany State, for the title game. This was a hard-fought game all the way. Again that "sharpshooting" forward, Ira Jackson, was high scorer with 25 points as the Tigers defeated the Rams of Albany State and captured the 1958-59 SEAC crown. Willie Tate and Harlan Lambert doubled for second high with 20 points each.

The Tigers defeated the following teams to remain in first place and qualify for the SEAC tournament.

In the Wiley Gymnasium, January 31, they rolled to victory with a 104-58 win over Edward-Waters of Jacksonville, Fla., and on February 7, they defeated the mighty Rams of Albany State College, 82-54. Then the Tigers traveled to Augusta, Ga., where they defeated Faine College on their own home court by an extraordinary score of 114-75. In the non-Conference bracket, the Tigers defeated the powerful Norfolk State Collegeegers 79-67 in a thriller that was all tied up with four seconds left to play.

Yes, the Tigers really had a fruitful season. They were the first place team in the SEAC Conference from start to finish. The nicest part of it all is the same team will be defending this crown next year, because the majority of the Tigers are freshmen and sophomores. The only seniors are Captain Roland James and Moses King.

The Savannah State students congratulate the Tigers on winning SEAC Conference.

An Open Letter

To the Cast of Antigone:

The pink, twinkling, sparkling of the jewels you presented me last week brought bright ears to my eyes.

According to reports, Antigone was successful. Few know how much you went through to achieve your moment of glory and make ready an hour of beauty for the devotees of Theophrastus.

You yourselves do not know the trepidation we felt when we surveyed a cast including seven freshmen and we groaned, "Oh, Theophrastus! Why in the world a Sophoclean tragedy? Why? Why? And then came the inspiring words of Browning: "... a man's reach should exceed his grasp. Or what's a heaven for?"

And aspire you did—all of you. You Halmon, with your hint of a lip that almost disappeared on the Big Night. You Ismene of the soft sweet voice that I'll never hear you in the last rows, I shouted to you during the mounting rehearsal. You Sentry, girl who took on a man's role of the first night, I thought it well. You Chorus, with whom I fought nightly, and who never acted badly toward me as I often did toward you.

You Messenger, who rushed in at the end of the act, I learned your lines in the blinking of an eyelash. You Theoclasts, who made me try the quavering voice which gave me a sore throat for the first time did it right after night. You, little Michael, boy of Thebes who came to rehearsals on time though you had only a walk-on. You Creon Ah, Creon, from the first you had little need of me (except for the r's) for you were Creon.

And you, Antigone—you of the golden throat. I remember when first I heard that haunting voice. You are saying hello to the student body and was applauded for all time. Yes, Antigone, you of the mellifluous tongue, you made me weep at last as you had promised.

And you, cast of Antigone, you gave me jewels more sparkling than any other that day I heard the small son of my house ranting: "Money! Money! There's nothing in the world but money! Money!" The days when students whom I had never seen paused a moment to chat intelligently about Attic drama. When Dr. Cullough's Antigone was the interest in the Oedipus Rex, a movie done with the giant masks and buskins of the old Greek arena.

When the torchbearer falls to waive the muleta, when they arena-tors forget to shout Oe! then shall I forget you and your Antigone.

Only then, too, will I forget the splendid cooperation we received from all quarters of the Savannah State College. Whenever we asked, they helped. And some came forward unasked, bearing assistance as if it were a golden chalice. Thanks to all of them, I have all the cast of Antigone and everyone who stood behind you, you kept the shining faith our beloved president has in you and in our College. You see, your fellow-students do not realize, I sometimes think, how deep and abiding is his faith in you. Our students are as good as students anywhere, he will say one day at faculty meeting. They can achieve, he insists. And sometimes we pedagogues half smile, remembering the misspellings and the errors in punctuation. But you, cast of Antigone, brought tangible, ineffaceable evidence of his serene assurance that we at Savannah State College have great potential for the future with a devoted student body.

And so, cast of Antigone, thank you again for the jewels. But you are my real jewels—my

Student Opinions

By Yvonne McClocton

Recently, Antigone, a Greek drama by Sophocles, was presented on this campus. To get student reactions to the play the following question was asked: "What is your general reaction to the play, Antigone?" It was recently presented by the College Playhouse?"

The following reactions were received:

Lacelle Lawton, sophomore: "I think the play was excellent. I feel the students on this campus should be exposed to more activities of that nature."

Benjamin Harris, senior: "I think students really appreciated the play."

Roslyn Seardy, junior: "I thought that the costuming was excellent and the characters portrayed their parts very well."

Mamie Green, freshman: "I think the play was excellent. I was spectacular. Even though it was a tragedy, it had just enough humor to make it realistic. I also think that Creon's voice and costume possessed a touch of originality."

Cynthia Toney, freshman: "All of the characters were good and Creon was especially good."

Mable McPherson, senior: "The most inspiring thing to me was the way the characters were portrayed their parts. I think it was terrific for amateurs."

Alvin Collins, senior: "I thought it was the most colossal play that has been presented since I have been here. The actors seemed very much at ease."

Herbert Williams, senior: "I like serious dramas. Therefore I liked Antigone. I think that in the future there should be a variety of plays including all types."

Harry Richardson, sophomore: "The play was one of the best I have ever seen. I like plays of mixed emotions. I feel that that kind of play should be continued."

Winifred Hopkins, freshman: "I thought it was a whole, the play was good. In some parts it was very good and some of the actors were marvelous. The actors who especially appealed to me were Creon, Antigone, and Hermon."

Margaret Dawson, sophomore: "Well, I think it was very well prepared and presented. I especially enjoyed Eva Boseman, who portrayed Antigone. In my estimation she did as well as anyone could have done."

Nathaniel Brown, sophomore: "I thought the play was very good as well as emotional. It showed how sometimes power, if used unwisely, can corrupt a city."

Eleanor Johnson, sophomore: "I think that it was nice that it was fostering the cultural program that has been instigated at this institution."

Mildred Gissenhammer, junior: "I am a lover of Greek drama and the performance was magnificent. The characters seemed very relaxed and acquainted with each other. They were doing. I think there should be a repeat performance."

Thomas J. Farlon, freshman: "It was pretty nice in my opinion. I think it was enjoyed by all who attended."

Dorothy Harden, freshman: "I enjoyed the play. It brought out the fact that it is not always wisdom that people too quickly. I liked it."

"On Leave of Absence"

The place is Walter Reed Army Medical Center, Washington, D. C. The man is John Foster Dulles, Secretary of State, and the condition is cancer located somewhere in the lower abdomen.

For six years Mr. Dulles has geared the United States' foreign policy and is known as the most traveled Secretary of State in United States history.

John Foster Dulles was a major in World War I, an international lawyer during the early twentieth century, United States International Advisor during the Truman Administration, and as Secretary of State under the Eisenhower Administration, he rates high on the list of the world's dedicated statesmen.

Cancer is not a new enemy to the Secretary, because he underwent surgery in 1956, and his recovery depends on how his bodily reaction to radiation therapy. The disease is destroying his glandular tissues, and his response to radiation treatment is slow.

President Eisenhower has asked for the nation's prayers that recovery will come quickly to the "traveling man," who is now "on leave of absence."

The Berlin Crisis

Nikita S. Khrushchev plans to transfer the Soviet's position as joint occupiers of Berlin to the East German regime, and the United States and her allies are planning a "Big Four" conference negotiation over Germany reunification.

Moscow has set up a Pankov puppet in Germany and has transferred authority to the Pankov regime. According to the Soviets, by May 27 the West will have to deal with the East German in transporting supplies to and from Berlin. According to the Soviets, a refusal may result in a world war.

The Soviets plan to dissolve the postwar agreement, which gave the United States, France and Great Britain the right to occupy Berlin. Now, Moscow has issued a formula demanding the allies to withdraw their forces.

The aim of the United States and her allies is to keep the split Berlin Territory by negotiation on a "Big Four" level for reunification.

A Labor Threat

The Kennedy-Ervin Bill and the Administration Bill are the only serious attacks against Labor since the Wagner Act of 1947. The bills attack uncurbed union power. However, the Kennedy-Ervin Bill tends to increase the power of unions and their supervisors. One provision to the bill increases union power over a larger number of supervisors and places more power in the National Labor Board. The United Automobile Workers' Administration Bill has a provision which attacks "blackmail" picketing. "Blackmail" picketing is picketing by those people representing neither the Union nor the management suffering the strike.

New Haven, Conn. (I.P.) — Pointing out that New Haven College has a curriculum which reflects probably more than most community colleges in the nation the growing "frontier of community education," President Marvin K. Peterson stated here recently that "our curriculum for the spring term of 1959 is one the couldn't possibly have been envisaged by the men who founded our college just 38 years ago."

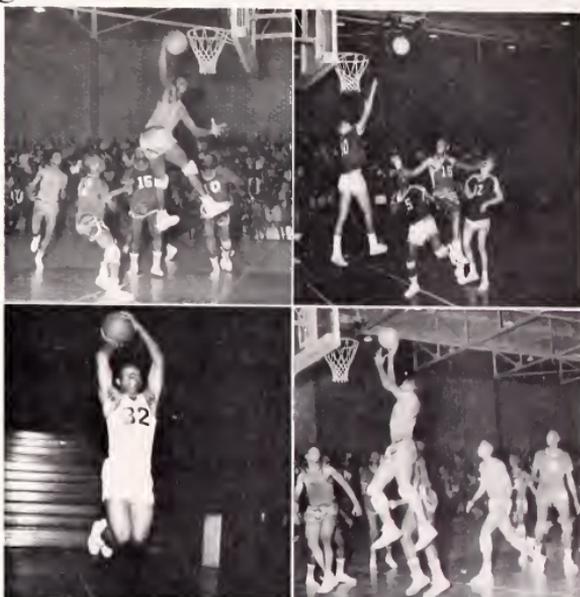

He cited new courses being offered for the first time this spring by the college, such as one in nuclear metallurgy, another in scientific illumination, the two transistor courses already being given both in New Haven and in Ridgfield, a television techniques workshop, and others.

Community colleges across the nation, he said, are faced with a growing need to expand their curricula to provide education to adults as well as the young.

Scenes From "Antigone"

Antigone Proves To Be Most Interesting

By Mamie E. Greene

Antigone, the slow-moving drama of Sophocles, proved to be the most interesting in both forms: reading and viewing. The actors, in the dramatization, so vividly portrayed their roles that I could not help appreciating it more than I did the reading. Creon's costume added such a regal air to his portrayal, and his voice had a touch of royalty.

Each actor possessed desirable characteristics. In Creon, I saw greed, arrogance, and unyielding determination. Even when he knew he was wrong, his pride would not allow him to retract his vow. He felt that his being king made him omnipotent and his decisions were not to be questioned.

Antigone depicted courage, faith, and determination. She felt it was the will of the gods to have her brother buried, so she defied the king. She nobly confessed her deed, and bravely she accepted the death penalty.

Haimon loved his father, but his love for Antigone was greater; so he tactfully asked his father to release Antigone. When he realized that his talk was useless, he pierced his side; and with his dying strength, he gathered Antigone close to him.

Ismene was meek and a bit pretentious. She tried to talk Antigone out of burying Polyneices. When Antigone was sentenced, Ismene, out of duty or the fear of being alone, offered to join her sister in her death; but Antigone nobly rejected her offer. Ismene accepted the rejection with what I believe was a feeling of relief.

Though Euridice appeared only once, she seemed to be meek and dominated. Rather than trying to talk with her husband, she submitted herself to death.

The other characters were rather wise, but fearful. They knew Creon was wrong, but they waited too late to express themselves.

The play was well-cast, and I commend Mrs. Upshur, Mr. Holt, and all who made the production a remarkable one. I shall long remember both forms of the play; for although it was tragic, there was just enough humor to make it realistic. The performance was really spectacular.

Jimmie Colson Delivers Address

By Sherman Roberson

Jimmie D. Colson, senior, was the main speaker on the all-college assembly program, presented by the Alpha Iota Chapter of Sigma Gamma Rho Sorority, Incorporated, February 27, in Meidrim Auditorium.

Jimmie is a native of Perry, Georgia, and is a graduate of Houston County Training School of Perry, Georgia. She is majoring in Mathematics and minoring in General Science, and holds office in the following organizations: Secretary, Senior class; Anti-Basileus, Alpha Iota Chapter of Sigma Gamma Rho Sorority, Incorporated; Secretary, Natural Science Club; Secretary, Pan Hellenic Council; Secretary, Dormitory Council and others.

Jimmie spoke on the topic, "Youth Wins Its Way." She set forth the proposition that one of the faults attributed to the youth is failure to acknowledge previous mistakes. According to Jimmie, two wrongs do not make a right. She presented example to support the idea that if youth refuses to acknowledge previous mistakes and fails to correct them, it is then making another.

"Youth supposes, we know," said the student speaker, and the modern versions, "Young men think old men are fools, but old men know young men are fools."

In conclusion, she asked her audience to ask themselves, "Where are we going?" Also to consider whether or not what they are pursuing is really what they want. She asked that all should remember the importance of youth in relation to the home, the school, the church, the community, the nation and the world.

The speaker stated: "Youth wins its way, passing a while, but not to stay."

A solo entitled "My Task," was sung by Delores Wright, and Eugene Hagins accompanied her at the piano.

SSC Alumni Are Active

By Prince Jackson, Jr.

A Savannah State College Alumni Chapter was organized in Macon, Georgia, on February 22. John Jordan, Jr. ('49), was elected Acting President, and Mrs. E. M. Sutton ('48) was elected Acting Secretary. The group plans an early meeting to elect and install permanent officers and set up a program for the remainder of the year.

Prince Jackson, Jr., College Alumni Secretary, addressed the group and related to them some of the vast improvements which are presently taking place within the college and discussed the need for scholarship funds.

At a recent meeting with John Robinson, principal of Bailey Street School, Waycross, Georgia, and Hosea Loftin of Blackshear, Georgia, Mr. Jackson discussed the need for an Alumni Chapter in that area. The response was favorable and plans are now underway to begin organizing a chapter there.

Some graduates in Folkston, under the leadership of Robert DeLoach, principal of Bethune High School, have begun to plan their organization into a chapter.

Mr. Jackson is scheduled to address the Alumni Chapter in Madison, Georgia, sometime in March. Mrs. Marie B. Martin is president of this group.

Preview of Spring Fashions

By Toledo Riley

If you know your own mind and like to express it in the way you dress, take a few tips from this forecast for Easter:

For milady, the excitingly fresh, and deliciously new styles are the beautiful pastel colors of pink, green, pink, purple, mint, orange, blue, turquoise and peacock blue.

Slim sheaths, alone or jacketed to for two completely different looks; or the smart new, and above all, three-piece costume suit with a cropped jacket, slim skirt, and a printed blouse, which peeps out from under the cropped jacket, are the leading fashion columns from Paris to America.

To top off these enticing outfits are hats in all variations—the draped affairs, big combinations, flower-planner, overlays of chiffon, and the simple straw brims.

If you are one for having the feet in the open, this is the spring for it! Wear a little less shoe with a lot more planner. Wear shoes that are closed at the toes, but open any-and-every-where else. These designs are the newest thing in shoes since pointed toes. The shoe is plum-purple calf, pink, melon, grapefruit, bone, peacock blue, and the ever-popular black patent.

The new look for the gents is the "Continental Look." The coats are cut higher and rounded just below the waistline. The pants are worn shorter than the regular length. Although the continental look is new, nothing can replace the dominant "Tvy League" with those neat Stacy-Adams shoes to correspond with the suit.

Proper Breathing Is

As good as anything for far less chilling than usual. The strain of any difficult job can be minimized by breathing out slowly and fully before you start. It can also insure your staying awake in church.

Proper exhaling requires practice. The Digest article says. One of the best ways to establish the habit involves reading aloud. Try reading a favorite story, counting the words you can say in one breath. Tomorrow try to increase the amount. After several days you may double your count.

Another good exercise is counting aloud. Breathe in gently to the count of four. Pause a second and then exhale to the count of twelve. Next time breathe in to the count of five, exhale to fifteen. As the count gets longer as try humming as you exhale. This will help you control the amount of air you expel.

By making controlled breathing a habit, says Knowles, we can increase our awareness, improve our posture and enlarge our body capacity.

The article, "Do You Really Know How to Breathe?" is condensed from Today's Living, the Sunday supplement of the New York Herald Tribune.

"Anigone" Draws

Annie Owens, senior: "I think it seemed a miserably done. It seemed so realistic."
Juanita Baker, senior: "I think it was very good."

Joe Sweet, senior: "I think the student body understood and appreciated the play."

From the various opinions received, I think that we should take our hats off to the playhouse for a splendid performance that was enjoyed by everyone.

New Library To House 60,000 Volumes

By Sherman Roberson

The half million dollar library that is under construction on the Savannah State College campus is rapidly nearing completion. This modern structure will house some 60,000 volumes, representing all areas of study and research.

Among the new books to be added to the library are several of the most recent acquisitions in science. Earth Satellites by Patrick Moore. The desire to set up artificial moons to circle the earth is no longer a product of the imagination. And now that the launching of such bodies is actually taking place, it is dominating much public concern and attention. Although much technical information is available on this subject, the non-specialist reader often finds that it is beyond his comprehension.

Here, Moore has attempted to give a general view of what is taking place so that after reading his work, the interested on-looker will find it easier to understand technical expositions. Brighter Than A Thousand Moons, by Robert Jung. This work is a personal history of atomic scientist based on conversations with the chief participants from Poland, Germany to Australia and Japan, and on a collection of American official documents and transcripts. Atoms and People, by Ralph E.

Lapp. This is the work of an atomic scientist who speaks of the outstanding events and personalities of atomic history in this non-technical account for the layman. Eisenhower's atom-for-peace proposal, the perils of nuclear warfare and the gradual slowing down of the atomic race by means of international control are all discussed.

Atoms At Your Service, by Henry A. Dumlup. In this book, an attempt has been made to present the basic information about the atom: What it is and how it acts in the liberation of energy. The author includes the story of the Atomic Energy Commission, the role of Congress, the role of private industry and also the international aspects of his subject. Guided Weapons, by Eric Burgess. Here, the author has attempted to introduce the reader to fundamentals, both historical and technical, on which guided missiles are based.

This is one of one of the many ways that Savannah State College, under the leadership of its President, Dr. William K. Payne, keeps pace with the changes of modern living.

The Spotlight

By Ernestine Hill

He has all brown and no brains! Have you ever heard this stereotype used? I am sure that most of you have. This has been proved wrong however, for you will find that Brown does accompany brains and that some of the best students may be athletes. One athlete of whom our school should be especially proud is Leroy Brown, a senior and a native of Savannah, Georgia.

Leroy, a quiet, serious-minded young man, was honored at the Honor's Day program for maintaining a two-point average for three consecutive quarters. He made first team on the all S.K.A.C. Conference football team, and was Savannah State College's choice for the Pittsburg Courier "All American Award."

He is a catcher on the Tiger's baseball team and a guard on the football team. Brown is a member of the Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity, the Natural Science Club, and is the treasurer of the Senior Class. His hobbies are playing cards, listening to jazz records, and dancing. He is a mathematics major and plans to work for the government after graduation. It is an honor to add Leroy Brown to the ever-growing list of Spotlight Subjects.

Brooklyn, N. Y. (I.P.)—By-laws concerning nominations of Polytechnic Institute students to "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" have been passed by the Student Council. For the class of '59, the required average is 2.25. In addition the nominee must have:

Leadership and/or responsibility in offices he has held; versatility, indicated by breadth and interest of activities; leadership ability and use of this ability; exemplification of the highest standards of leadership; justification of responsibilities of jobs he has held; and diversified activities, and outstanding leadership ability in these activities. A candidate must also show promise of future success in offices he has just begun to hold.

Laramie, Wyo. (I.P.)—The rule passed last year by the University of Wyoming's Faculty Social Committee prohibiting off-campus "atmosphere" dances has been amended, according to an announcement by Dean of Women E. Lucila Galliver, committee chairman.

The new ruling states "atmosphere dances are to be cleared by the social committees (both student and faculty) two weeks before the dance is to be held and, whenever possible, they are to be held in the chapter houses." The social committees and the Inter-Fraternity Council both feel this new ruling is much better than the previous one which stated that atmosphere dances were to be held in chapter houses, commented Dean Galliver.

"The first ruling was also rather ambiguous when it stated that the dances had to have special clearance by the social committees. In the latest resolution, the social committees are defined—both student and faculty," she stated. Upon receipt of the petitions from the fraternities, Dean Galliver will mail copies of the faculty and student members of the committee for their approval or disapproval.
