Did You Know?

By Lenard Dawson

That every student should confer with his advisor at least once each quarter to make out his study program?

That every student should repeat courses in which he has earned deficient grades or such courses as in his major or minor or if they are special subject requirements?

That it is the student's responsibility to see that incomplete grades are made up and reported to the registrar before the incomplete grades are converted to failures?

That a student who incurs excessive absences should submit to the Dean of Faculty a conclusive official statement setting forth a valid reason for the absences and that the student should state the precise days and dates when the student was absent?

That excusers to be absent from classes may be advised by a physician, a registered nurse, a court clerk, a police officer, a mortician, a minister, a business employer, or a personal dean?

That the penalty for excessive absences becomes effective immediately after the close of the quarter in which the absences occur, and that the official statement must be on file in the office of the Dean of Faculty before the student next enrolls?

That during the administration of Dr. Benjamin F. Hubert, the following buildings were added to Savannah State's physical plant: Adams Hall (1931), Willie Powell Laboratory School (1932), shops for masonry and auto mechanics (1935), Morgan Hall (1936), Wilkes Hall in m. a. c. m (1936), Herly Hall (1937), Canulla Hubert Hall (1938), information Cabin (1940), Community House (1941), Incubator House (1941), three teachers' cottages, a nursery and farm shop buildings (1943), Trades Building (1947), and poultry houses for laying hens and broilers, etc.

That January 18, 1950, the Regents of the University System of Georgia changed the name of the college from Georgia State College to Savannah State College?

That on March 1, 1960, W. K. Payne became the fifth president of the College?

The Press And You

Did you know that your library subscribes to more than 300 periodicals and 20 newspapers and that every day a goodly number of them—still unread—are taken down and replaced by new issues that will in their turn be taken down unopened and unread? Statistics assure us that so far TV's impact on magazines has been so disappointing so far that it's said that in less than 10 years, TV has become practically universal, but the magazines have gained too. They assure us, too, that newspapers are still considered by the public at their main source of information since radio and TV give little more than bulletins and capsule comments on a few issues.

These findings should give comfort to all who are trying to dispel the wide-spread notion that Johnny can't read. The reading public is fast and opinionated and supported the figures. Take a number from five to ten and you will have the number of magazines and newspapers that actually pay their way in most college libraries. In our library the calls are for: Pittsburgh Courier, Ebony, Life, Look, Time, Newsweek, the local and home-town papers. That's all. Except, of course, the ones assigned for class reading and the fashion group.

There is, of course, nothing wrong with reading a book at (since a number of titles are of the picture-story type) the newspapers or magazines listed above. This is no campaign for the closing of the reading of these popular periodicals; but one for extended coverage of the news and the thinking of the day. Why not try adding one magazine a month to your established reading list? Give sometime at the editorials in the newspapers now read. Add from time to time, the Baldwin, Kansas Institution, New York Times and the perennial Pulitzer prize winning St. Louis Post Dispatch.

Facts About The Negro

The Negro arrived in the New World free from Tuberculosis, and syphilis, or other venereal diseases. Livingstone, the famous African missionary and medical doctor, says, Syphilis "dies out in the African interior. It seems incapable of permanence in any form in persons of pure African blood." Syphilis was introduced in Europe in 1494, when there was a great epidemic of it. As this was two years after the discovery of the New World, it was erroneously believed to have been brought back by the sailors of Columbus.

The Negro was the first artist. The oldest drawings and carvings yet discovered were executed by the Negro people over 15,000 years ago in Southern France, Northern Spain, Palestine, South Africa, and India. The drawings are on rocks, the carvings on bones, shells and ivory.

An Editor's Job

tory of American Journalism is filled with the stories of brave publishers, editors and reporters who have dared to take sides . . . They are our part-time men. We defy Dean Marvin to name one man who has brought honor to journalism by being neutral.

A school of Journalism should, we think, teach its students how to fight by writing. It should teach them how to choose the better cause and support it effectively. It should teach them not to be bored back, but to be great, smart, able editors and reporters in the noble American tradition.

"G.L.A.'s Daily Brain" sees it another way, emphasizing: "It is not an editor's job to take sides."
