Student Publications Wins Four First Places

Savannah State College was the only institution to win four awards at the Columbia University Scholastic Press Association annual meeting that attracted five thousand high school and college editors from all over the United States.

The Savannah State College Entrepreneur, the Business Department Journal, won first prize in the departmental department. The Entrepreneur is a mimeographed publication, edited and published by students in the Department of Business. Last year one printed edition was published—this was the issue that won the award.

The Entrepreneur staff at that time was as follows: Editor-in-Chief, Carter Peek (who also draws the cover picture for each issue); Associate Editor, Oliver V. Swaby; Business Manager Theodore Collins; Circulation Manager, Benjamin Graham; Advertising Editor, Minnie Kornejag; Reporters, Nathaniel Roberts, Carolyn Robinson, William Walkover, Mildred Harvey, Irving Dawson; Typists, Minnie Kornejag, Laura Kornejag, Verne Mike, Dorothy Moore; Faculty Advisors, Robert C. Long, Sr., Albertha Boston, William H. Bowen, and Ben Ingersoll.

The Tiger's Roar, student newspaper, won second prize in the senior college student newspaper division. This periodical is published each month during the regular school term, with one issue during the summer.

The Savannah State Bulletin won second prize in the Senior College and University News Magazine division. This news magazine is published six times a year by the Office of Public Relations. Wilton C. Scott is Director of Public Relations and also editor of the Bulletin.

The Savannah State College Weekly newspaper column won second prize in the College Page Division. This column appears weekly in the Sunday Edition of the Savannah Morning News. In addition to weekly news, articles appear in the Savannah Tribune, The Herald, and the various National Weekly Newspapers.

Dean Completes Requirements

According to an announcement by Dr. William K. Payne, Mr. Nelson R. Freeman who is serving at Veteran's Secretary and Acting Dean of Men at Savannah State College, has completed his requirements for the master's degree at Teacher's College, Columbia University. Mr. Freeman will receive the degree in Guidance and Student Personnel Administration on June 3.

Freeman is an alumnus of Savannah State College and a member of the Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity. He is married to the former Jean Thornton who is an alumnus of Savannah State.

Ninth Men's Day Features Week Of Activities

The Ninth Annual Men's Day Festival began Sunday, April 22, with the men of Savannah State College addressing Sunday School in Meltrin Auditorium. In the evening a Vesper program was presented. Doctor Almon T. Stephens, associate professor of history at Savannah State College, delivered the address. Following the address the "Man of the Year" awards were presented to the male students who have excelled in many areas while attending Savannah State College.

When the first "Man of the Year" awards were given in 1952, Hon. Laffon, Da R. n. 11 Jackson, Frank Prince and Joseph Turner were the recipients. In 1953, Lee Mark Daniel, Raymond Knight and Charles W. Smith received these coveted medals and honors.

Timothy Ulysses Rynal was named man of the year in 1954 and he was the first person to receive this honor alone.

Three students were named "Man of the Year" in 1955. They were Curtis Victor Cooper, George Johnson and Clarence Lofton (the second of the Lofton Brothers). To be named "Man of the Year", at 6:30 p.m. Sunday, April 22, this honor will be bestowed upon deserving students.

April 23 was Fine Arts Day. From 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. there was an art exhibit in the Fine Arts Building. Gerne Ford gave the program. The program of art, coordinated the program.

A 8:00 p.m. Tuesday, April 24 a talent show was directed by David Jones, who served as chairman of the Talent Day program. On Wednesday, Johnny Ponder showed a series of free movies to the students as a feature of the program; that he was sponsoring for the festival.

Education Day was observed Thursday, April 20. The address for the observance was given at 10:00 a.m. by Dr. Thomas Saunders, who is Chairman of the Department of Languages and Literature at Savannah State College.

Prince F. Wynn served as coordinator for the Symposium. The topic that the symposium discussed was "Methods which prove successful in the Development of Human Relations on the College Campus."

Sports Day was observed on April 28 on the Athletic field. The softball championship game was played at 10:00 a.m. A Softball game and track and field events were held.

Those students who served as coordinators for the festival are: Odeil Weaver, Athletics; Johnny Ponder, Audio-Visual Aids; William Weston, Awards; James O. Thomas, Banquet; Gerne Ford, Art exhibit; Joseph Brown and Carl Roberts, music appreciation; Russell Mole, publicity and advertisement; Carter Peek, Religious activities; Edward G. Milligan.

Twenty Contribute To Scholarship Drive

Dr. William K. Payne, president of Savannah State College, announced today that the Savannah Sugar Refining Corporation has donated $1000 to the Alumni Scholarship Fund headed by Prince Jackson, College Alumni Secretary. The Alumni Scholarship Fund has been personally endorsed by the Honorable Andrew J. Ryan, Jr., General, Eastern Judicial Circuit of Georgia. Rev. T. James McNamara, Rector at the Cathedral of Saint John the Baptist and other prominent citizens.

This Drive has been approved by the Savannah Chamber of Commerce. All business firms, agencies and individuals interested in helping a worthy young man or woman attend college are asked to send a check today to the Alumni Scholarship Fund, Savannah State College, Savannah, Georgia.

The members of the Alumni which is under the sponsorship Scholarship Fund Committee, of the local Alumni Chapter are: Robert Young, President; Norman Elmore, Vice President; Miss Laila Smith, Treasurer; John McGlothin, General President; Prince Jackson, Jr., Chairman; James Laten, Vice Secretary; Miss Mabel Ware, Mrs. Sadie Steele, John Myles and Miss Louise Middleton.

Among the other contributors to the present Alumni Scholarship Fund Drive are: Dearing

Three Attend Seminary Conference

Three Savannah State Students attended the Tenth Annual Conference on the Christian Ministry at Union Theological Seminary in New York on March 23-25. They were George Cochran, George Williams and Charles Cozart.

This conference was what might be called a church vocational conference for students who have potentialities not only in the related fields but also for those students who have not

Fisher Receives Freedom Award

Mr. J. Randolph Fisher, associate professor in the Department of Languages and Literature of Savannah State College, received a Freedom Foundation Award in the form of the George Washington Honor Medal.

The Freedom Foundation is an organization of which Herbert Hoover, ex-President of the United States, is president. President Eisenhower is chairman.

The essay for which Mr. Fisher received the award is entitled "What the American Credo Means to me." The essay attempts (1) to define the American way of life, (2) to explain it in detail and (3) to present several examples of the American Credo in Action.

Summer School Plans Announced

Dr. E. K. Williams has announced the plans for Summer School at Savannah State College for 1956. The first session begins on June 11, and ends on July 14. The second session begins on July 16, and ends on August 18.

Offerings in the following departments are provided: Biology, Business, Chemistry, Economics, Education, Fine Arts, Health and Physical Education, Language and Literature, Mathematics and Physics, Social Science, Trade and Industrial Education and Home Economics.

Some special offerings include the following workshops: Arts and Crafts, Methods and Materials of the Elementary School Curriculum, Methods and Materials of the Secondary School Curriculum, offered first session only; School Health program, Band Techniques, and Reading.

The Total School Health Program, Synthesis in Basic Health Information, Modern Techniques of Evaluation and Creative Craft Design are new and special courses that will be offered.

Special features are as follows: Outstanding specialists and consultants added to the faculty; workshops provided to meet special needs and interests of in-service teachers; three-week short course for trade teachers, courses for special trade students, evening sessions from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, rich programs of concerts, recitals, lectures, plays and educational tours, supervised child care service for elementary children from 8 to 8 years of age whose parents are enrolled in summer school, and upon sufficient demand, the college will offer any course that is listed in the several curricula of the regular bulletin.

High above information in mind, Savannah State College aims to prepare principals, teachers of elementary and secondary schools and other leaders to meet successfully the problems in schools and communities, assist teachers in meeting requirements for degrees and certificates in all fields, and for better positions and higher salaries, provide general educational backgrounds for freshmen and sophomores, provide opportunities for veterans to con-

The Origin of Men's Day

By Isiah Melver

Savannah State College sponsored its first Men's Day Festival in April of 1948. This project which was designed to promote finer manhood through constructive activities of all types, came into being as a result of the untiring efforts of Henry A. Johnson who was serving as president of the Hill Hall Dormitory Council and Harrison Miller who served as chairman of the planning committee.

Until 1950 the festivals were sponsored by the members of Hill Hall Dormitory and other interested male students. Since this event became so popular, the male students decided to select a committee, composed of men from each Campus Organization to arrange and prepare program for the event. Members of the faculty and certain staff members were also invited to serve on committees and participate in the athletic events. Because of the cooperation that has been given this project, all of the participants derive great joy and benefits from this annual affair.

Since 1952, awards have been given to the "Man of the Year" for excellence of character, effective leadership, and outstanding contributions to the school community.

In 1948 when the festival had its beginning, there were only four events and the program lasted only two days. The activities that were sponsored during this initial attempt were: a sports tournament, track and field meet, a banquet and a vespers program. Since then this program has steadily grown and now it covers seven days and various activities. Each year an elaborate array of artistic, social, educational, religious, and cultural events are sponsored by the men of Savannah State College.

The primary aim of the festival is to help prepare men to shoulder many of the staggering responsibilities and grave challenges of the age and culture in which they live.

Line-Crashing

Johnny Campbell, Jr.

It is doubtful if any normal person enjoys standing in lines—even pay lines. Lines are disgusting to stand in and everyone endeavors as much as possible to get out of them. But in many instances they are absolutely necessary to perform a particular job in the most efficient and dignified manner. The intelligent person realizes this and though he retains an aversion to lines, in time he learns to bear them.

Registration is an instance where lines are indispensable for the performing of the huge task involved. Judging however from the childish conduct and attitude of many students on our campus during registration, it seems as though this elemental truth has never occurred to them. These students hold the belief, which is in part, an exaggerated sense of self-importance and puffy to laziness, that lines are only for others to stand in. They devote considerable time, energy, and effort to the devising of ingenious methods by which they can "crash" the line. It is indeed regrettable that such ingenuity is not devoted to the academic aspect of college life. If it were, the results would be most rewarding.

The "line-crashers" contribute much to the general confusion encountered at registration. Much delay in the movement of the line can be directly attributed to their constantly breaking of the line by such tactics as pushing their way in, or by pushing their way ahead of others. The end result is the creation of disturbance and inconvenience among those students who are standing patiently and intelligently in line awaiting their turn. And the relative ease in which the "line-crashers" are allowed to pursue their unfair practices has a contagious effect on others. Many who would not otherwise resort to such tactics do so, precisely because they can get away with it.

No amount of pleading to the "line-crasher's" sense of righteousness will be enough to cause him to mend his ways. This type of person has no conception of fairness and shows no consideration for others. Obviously, what is needed is closest supervision of the registration lines by some-

Much of the trouble around the world today is due to the imperialistic policies of certain nations and the Communists who are constantly stirring up trouble everywhere.

The British have been suffering one setback after another in many of their colonial strongholds. Their present hot spot is Greece, where the people are crying for self-determination.

Only recently new violence has flared out because of the execution of two Cypriots by the British Government. Angry Greeks rioted against the United States and Great Britain. The crowd shattered windows in the building housing the United States Information Agency whose function is to seek improvement of understanding among the Western Allies.

The United States, morally supporting the Greeks' fight for self-government, suggested in 1954 that the British spare the life of the two men who were called terrorists by the British, but all appeals were rejected.

France's Resident Minister, Robert Lacoste, was granted special powers last March to put down rebellion in Algeria. He since has asked for reinforcements to bring his forces up to 380,000 troops. Due to the spring offensive of the Nationalist rebel, Lacoste has placed martial law with authority. Perhaps the humiliation of being publicly ejected from the line and placed at the end where he rightfully belongs would be sufficient treatment to eliminate the "crashing" of lines. At any rate, some measure is needed to protect those students who watch helplessly, while some self-styled V.I.P. "crashes" the line and finishes his registration first.

A Season for Decisions

Isiah Melver

During the spring quarter at Savannah State and at thousands of other institutions of higher learning throughout the United States, the beginning students who are commonly referred to as freshmen are granted the opportunity for the first time during their college careers to make choices and decisions that will affect them from one year to a lifetime.

There will be those students who will be trying to decide what sorority or fraternity to join.

However there will be those students who will fall to see the good features of Greek Letter Organizations. Those students who are not thinking of the various organizations will be thinking more strongly on how the candidates qualify who are trying to secure such positions as student council president or campus queen.

Those students who are in the process of trying to decide what sorority problem that those who are trying to select the best individuals to positions that last only one year. Greek letter organizations are going to be a part of those students who join for a life time and when they make their decisions these choices should be free of pressure since from any particular group since they will have to live forever with the group that is chosen.

The average student should be in a position to make his own decisions. A person with average intelligence should consider it an insult for someone to tell him what group or organization is best for him. The person who tells an individual that he should join a particular group is merely stating the person whom he is incapable of thinking. Since all college students should be able to think and make decisions, it is a sign that they are misplaced when we allow people to persuade us to think or act in a certain manner.

The path to Greekdom is tiring, rugged, and in many cases, seems discouraging. To successfully travel the path and reach the destination one has to really cherish the goal.

There are some students who never cherish sororities or fraternities. However, in many instances those students who are not active with Greek letter organizations and the Greeks are all concerned about who will be the campus queen or the leader of the student government.

The person who is elected queen and the individual who is elected to represent the student government are going to be our choices of the most capable people eligible for these positions.

Since these people after they are elected are going to be our leaders for the coming year, we should select those candidates for these top roles who impress us as individuals who will represent us best and work for the best interest of the students and the school.

In making decisions the freshmen are not the only students who are eligible to vote and make certain choices. The sophomores, trade students, juniors and seniors are responsible for selecting students to represent us who can serve well in the positions that they will be selected to fill.

Gwendolyn (BB) Keith

By Isiah A. Melver

When the Tigerettes defeated Albany State College 38-34 in the final game of the S.E.A.C. Tourney at Savannah State, one of the best basketball players that the Savannah State Tigerettes have ever produced was performing for the last time on the Savannah State College court.

Gwendolyn (BB) Keith who is doing her student teaching at Poyen State College this quarter has been named to the all-conference team for four consecutive years and she has been named the most valuable girl player in the S.E.A.C. conference twice (1955 and 1956).

Miss Keith is a native of Jacksonville, Florida. She attended Stanton High School of the same city. While attending Stanton, she played varsity basketball for two years, softball for three years, marched with the school drill team, was a member of the honor society, and in 1952 she graduated from high school with honors.

Upon graduating from high school Miss Keith began matriculating at Savannah State College. She is scheduled to graduate in June of this year with a B. S. degree in Elementary Education and Physical Education.

Aside from playing basketball for four years, Miss Keith has served as Basileus of Rho Beta Chapter of the Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, a member of the Collegiate Counselors, secretary of the Education Department, and chairman of the Tennis Clinic at Savannah State.

Gwendolyn says that she is a lover of all sports except soccer. Upon successfully completing her course of study at Savannah State, she plans to teach or coach high school basketball.

Or Liberate of our time

To others it's a gift of God to men
Sacred and utterly sublime.
One feels the thing but he knows not what
To others he cannot tell
Like a huge tide it engulfs one up

Unconsciously, you are under its spell
Through music many hearts have learned to love
Many hands have learned to play
Many tongues have learned to praise Him above

In this special way,
Say it's the speech of angels as Carlyle said

Or "medicine of the breaking heart" said Hunt
Or just simply say "an art" instead

G.J.A. Selects Officers

Savannah State College sponsored the Sixth Georgia Youth Industrial Education Association Trades Contest and Conference on March 29. Approximately 200 boys and girls and 50 instructors and advisors from schools throughout the state of Georgia participated. Dr. Alonzo T. Stephens spoke to the group, using as his subject, "Opportunities Unlimited."

For the first time the conference presented an oratorical contest. The contestants and schools participating were: Geraldine Miggs, Dasher High, Valdosta; Essie Crosby, Risley High, Brunswick; and Richard Frazier, Monroe High, Albany. Richard Frazier won first prize.

Officers for the coming year were elected as follows: president, Arthur G. Gardner, Monitor High School; vice president, Harry Lindsay, Spencer High School; secretary, Eleanor Hinton, Spencer High School; assistant secretary, Selenia Robinson, Ballard-Hudson High School, Macon; treasurer, Pauline Jordan, Lucy Laney High School; state editor, Roosevelt Crawford, Monitor High School.

Alpha Kappa Kappa Mu Honor Society Holds Annual Convention

By Alice Bevins

The Alpha Kappa Kappa Mu Chapter of Alpha Kappa Kappa Mu Honor Society held its 18th annual convention on March 29-31 at Morgan State College in Baltimore.

Representing Savannah State College were Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Bertrand, Mrs. Mariene McCall, Mr. Henry Johnson, and Dr. E. K. Williams.

At the convention, Mr. Johnson participated on a panel which had as its theme, "The Role of the Scholar in Improving Human Relations." Mr. Johnson stated, "It is a fact that in our country we tend to class ourselves according to socio-economic status and nationality. Therefore, it is a role of the scholar to search out some of the basic causes underlying the reasons for these actions and present them to the general public. Scholars must live among the people and present their ideas to the people, must read all information with regard to human relations and pass it on to the general public."

Dr. E. K. Williams was re-elected to the National Executive Committee in Baltimore.

The next convention will be the regional of which Mr. Johnson is president. It will be held at Benedict College in Columbia, S. C. on April 28.

titled "Boxing 1956," appears in the February issue of PLAYBOY, the entertainment magazine for men.

Moore, the 38-year-old light heavyweight champion, still ranks as Rocky's number one contender because of his showing against The Rock in their bout last year. But it is doubtful that Marcelino and Moore will be matched again. The championship was Marcelino's all the way.

Best bet to beat Marcelino comes with Floyd Patterson. In 1957, writes Paudur, Patterson, 21, copped the 1952 Middleweight Olympic championship and is the top light-heavyweight contender.

"Once Patterson has won the crown," predicts Paudur, "he should wear it for a long time."

Arehle Moore rules the roost of the light-heavyweights. Top challengers are Floyd Patterson and Harold Johnson, but Patterson's managers, already looking toward a match with Marcelino, are not expected to throw their boy against Moore.

The most promising newcomer to the light-heavyweight ranks, says Paudur, is Willie Pastrano. Because Johnson and Bob Satterfield have been beaten by Moore and because Patterson is being held to challenge The Rock, Pastrano may be pushed into a title fight with Moore prematurely.

Sugar Ray Robinson made a remarkable comeback and defeated "Bobo" Olson in the second round of their Dec. 9 middleweight bout.

The Robinson-Olson rematch will be a "honey" says the PLAYBOY article. If Sugar Ray loses, he'll almost certainly retire. But whichever fighter wins, he can look for trouble from Eduardo Lausse, the hard-hitting South American.

The welterweight title has changed hands three times in the past year and a half. Johnny Saxton won it from Kid Gavilan and lost it to Tony DeMarco. But Saxton, after several impressive victories, seems the next logical contender.

Wallace "Bud" Smith successfully defended his lightweight title against three-times ex-champ Jimmy Carter. But Carter is now past his peak. Ralph Dupas and Duilio Loi are the only fighters with any chance of upsetting Wallace.

Sandy Saddler, featherweight champion, has a record of 143 wins and only 15 losses. Former champion Willie Pet is still fighting, but poses no threat to Saddler who should hold his title for a few more years. Saddler's most promising contender is 21-year-old Carmelo Costa.

THERE'S A SHINING EXAMPLE of smoking enjoyment in the Droodle at left: Lucky-smoking couple on moonlight drive. Lucky smokers always enjoy better taste, because Lucky Strike means fine tobacco—mild, good-tasting tobacco that's TOASTED to taste better. So get on the beam—light up a Lucky yourself. You'll say it's the best-tasting cigarette you ever smoked!
