VOL. 9, No. 6

Fifth Annual Press Institute To Be Held, April 19-20

On April 19 to 20, Savannah State will sponsor the Fifth Annual Statewide Press Institute with the Third Annual Reporters Seminar and the Second Annual Radio Announcers Institute for faculty advisors and the editors and staffs of student newspapers and yearbooks. This institute is open to all advisors and staff members of student publications in any high school in Georgia. Awards will be given to schools with the best newspapers, yearbooks, magazines or other publications that are classified as senior high, junior high, elementary printed, lithographed or mimeographed.

Dr. Joseph Murphy, executive director of the Columbia University Scholastic Press Association and Director of the National Council of School Press and Advisors Association will be the principal speaker.

All publications and news articles will be rated. Certificates of participation and trophies will be awarded. Schools that are competing for trophies are sending student publications, yearbooks and news articles.

The program will include registration, a tour of the campus, a lecture-forum, workshops in news writing and editing, a general assembly, music, a tour of the city, radio workshops displays of yearbooks, viewbooks, magazines, mimeographed publications, printed publications, specialized journalistic writing,

Zetas Select Freshman of Year

The Rho Beta Chapter of the Zeta Phi Beta Sorority observed its annual "Finer Womanhood Week" during February 22-25. During this week there were activities that this group sponsors each year.

In their chapel program which was held on February 23, Miss Ruth Anderson of Jacksonville, Fla. was the guest speaker. Miss Anderson is the head nurse at Brewster Hospital and a graduate of Florida & M University School of Nursing. She is also affiliated with the Alpha Beta Zeta Chapter of Zeta Phi Beta Sorority of Jacksonville, Florida. She spoke on the subject "Learn to Live and Live to Learn". Edward B. Law of Savannah furnished the music for the program.

Following the address and the selections, the "Freshman girl of the year" was selected. Eudora Moore was the freshman selected from the group of contestants that was composed of Gladystene Thomas, Lucile Mitchell, Eudora Moore and Marie Roberts. Yvonne Hooks was cited during the program for being the freshman girl with the highest average during the fall quarter 1955.

Each of the contestants, Misses Hooks, Harrison, Anderson, Miss Anne Jordan and members of the Zeta Phi Beta Sorority ate lunch in the college dining hall after the program.

Ninth Men's Festival Set For April

Prince Frank Wynn has been selected as chairman for the Ninth Annual Men's Day Festival. George B. Williams, Jr. is the assistant chairman, Isaiah Aloysius McIver is the general secretary and Oliver Vincent Swaby is the assistant secretary.

The date for the festival has not been selected, but the event will take place during the spring quarter.

Last year, Dr. M. Gordon Brown, the assistant Chancellor of the University System of Georgia, opened the festival with an address to the entire student body. The names of the principal speakers for this year have not been announced.

A theme hasn't been selected for the festival, but a great deal of emphasis will be placed on promoting good human relations.

Last year over 100 awards were made and 75 per cent of these awards went to Louis Ford, Richard Washington and Henry Jackson. Many of the freshmen say that the story of last year's Men's Day Festival will have no bearing on this year's festival. They say that they are not going to win all of the medals, but they are going to make sure that the Freshman class wins the majority of the awards.

During the week there will be a radio or television program, a banquet, religious activities, a social, a talent show, softball, basketball, volleyball, touch football and many other athletic activities.

The part of the festival that keeps everyone on pins and needles is the vesper program where the students are announced who have been selected as "Men of the Year". Three students were selected last year. They were Clarence Lofton, Curtis Cooper and George Johnson.

Many Schools Attend Language Festival

Workshop sessions in the hearing-in-the-round, poetic interpretation, and choral speaking were the features of the Statewide High School Language Arts Festival at Savannah State College on March 7-9. The festival was sponsored by the college and by the Savannah Morning News and Evening Press. Students from Candler County Training School, Alfred E. Besch, Evans County Training School, Claxton; Edison School Edison; Cuyler Junior High School; Woodville High School; Liberty County High School; McIntosh; Todd-Grant High School, Darien; and Haven Home were among those registered for the activities.

Mrs. Eloise Usher Belcher, teacher of dramatics at South Carolina State College, Orangeburg, S. C. demonstrated and analyzed theater-in-the-round techniques. Three of her students were featured in scenes from Noel Coward's "Billie Spirit". Mrs. Belcher spoke at

Religious Emphasis Week Activities Begin March 27

"The Role of Religion in Education" will be discussed and emphasized thoroughly when Religious Emphasis Week gets underway on March 27 at Savannah State College. Here to lead the discussions and answer questions raised by the students will be Dr. Melvin Watson and

DR. MELVIN WATSON

Rev. W. J. Wynn, both of Atlanta. Dr. Watson is Dean of Religion at Morehouse College; Rev. Wynn is Professor of Religion at Gannon Theological Seminary. Several topics in keeping with the theme for the week are set for the various seminars and discussion groups.

Efforts to create a suitable atmosphere to this religious endeavor on the campus are seen through the regular morning devotions in the dormitories, the daily playing of chimes at 7:15 and 11:50 A.M., and the breakfast meditation period with members of various Religious

REV. W. J. WYNN

Emphasis Week Committees.

The observance this year begins with a retreat at Montgomery Community Center instead of ending with it as in previous years. Mr. Walter Mercer, instructor in education, is the speaker. One of the concluding highlights of the week is the sunrise service on Easter Sunday Morning. An added feature this year is the college-wide community sing.

The students will have several occasions to ask questions and exchange views, and receive Spiritual guidance from the two able consultants in the carefully planned seminars and classroom discussions. Such topics as "Religion As A Practical Philosophy", "What Happens to Religion in College?", "The Necessity of Religion in our Education", "Should Religion Be Taught in State Colleges", and "How Religion Functions in an Atomic Age" afford an opportunity to analyze, if not solve, some of the problems which face college students today.

Personal conference periods have been arranged for students who wish to discuss individual problems with the consultants. A faculty discussion session is scheduled for March 29 at 6 p.m. The 1956 Religious Emphasis Week observance concludes on Sunday, April 1 at 10:30 a.m. with an evaluation of the week's activities.

Isaiah McIver, a sophomore at the college, is serving as general chairman for the program. Rev. A. J. Hargrett, college minister, is co-ordinator.

Adele Addison To Appear In Concert

The Lyceum Committee of Savannah State College is proud to announce that Adele Addison, the young gifted soprano star of opera, concert stage, radio and television, will perform at Savannah State College on Monday, March 20, at 8 p.m. in Melville Auditorium.

She has been chosen seven times as soloist with the Boston Symphony Orchestra, she has been featured with the Chicago and the NBC Symphony Orchestras.

Still in her twenties, Miss Addison has often been called "gracious lady" because of her warm sincerity and poise.

After she graduated from the Westminster Choir College of Princeton, she won a scholarship to the opera department of the Berkshire Music Center where she worked for three years under Boris Godolisky. Her later study included courses at the New England Conservatory. She also coached in song repertoire with Povia Frisch at the Juillard School of Music in New York.

Her concert work includes compositions ranging from the 17th century Englishman, Henry Purcell to the contemporary works of American composers.

28 Students Do Practice Teaching

During the winter quarter 28 Savannah State Students did their student teaching. Twenty-two of these students did their practice work in Savannah, two in Liberty County, one student in Springfield, and one in Monticello.

Those students who were on the field were Elementary Education majors—Jettie M. Adams, DeRenne; Ella Brunson, Springfield; Annie Culbreth, West Broad; Mamie D. Davis, Powell Lab.; Nancy Ellis, DeRenne; Faye M. Flipper, West Broad; Sarah E. Greene, West Broad;

The Fourth "R"

By Isiah Melver

The majority of all college students are little familiar with the three R's that they have been facing all through their elementary studies. One of the primary reasons that they have become familiar with these three R's is because these are the basic and essential ingredients that all students must master or become familiar with before they can attain any degree of success in the field of education or any other technical area.

However, the fourth R is just as important to the student as the other three. It is true that students need instructions in reading so that they could read the great classics; they need to know how to write so that they could write a dissertation should they decide to study for a doctorate and in order for them to solve problems in calculus they need to be familiar with the basic fundamentals of mathematics.

However, after the student is taught to read and to understand a Greek classic, write a research paper or solve a math problem, he thinks that he has accomplished everything.

A learner may have accomplished a great deal when he has come to master the three R's, but he gets involved in situations that only a graduate man can solve, he forgets those three R's and reaches back for the fourth, Religion.

A Student's Prayer

Author Unknown

Father God . . . May I flourish—entirely—like my burning candle,
the desk my altar.

May these days as a student become a stewardship of myself.
May I give myself to the business of scholarship, becoming a careful workman for thee.

May college not become a mere preparation for life and a vocation, but life and vocation themselves,
meaningful and whole.

Grant that I may see as my field my study, not for my own glory, but to thy greater glory.
I would learn the essential things well. I would desire to be of real service to the world, to see fame with cool eyes, and failure without fear of reputation.

Recreate me sensitive to the great problems of mankind, to know great minds and invoke great principles.

Lead me to treat task with the courage to put away childish things and be filled with great thoughts.

May the awareness of debt to parents, friends and society for the cost of education, make a humble man of me.

Encourage and refresh me when I come to think of my work as horseman, drawn out and unproductive.

Strengthen me, father, as a faithful student of thy word, to answer thee, for thou hast called me into thy service as a learner.
Amen

The time is rapidly approaching when the delegates to the National Republican and Democratic Conventions will gather and select their respective party banner bearer.

Members of the Republican party have been in somewhat of a dilemma prior to President Eisenhower's announcement of his decision to accept the nomination if he is renominated, but since his statement to the nation there is little doubt as to who will be the Republican nominee. There is a question, however, as to the nominee for the vice-presidency.

President Eisenhower did not endorse Mr. Richard Nixon as a possible running mate. However he praised Nixon and stated that it was traditional for the vice-presidential nominee to be decided after the presidential nomination was made.

A poll of 112 Republican party leaders by the Associated Press credits 22 per cent were in favor of Vice President Nixon as the vice presidential nominee. Another nine per cent were for Nixon if Eisenhower wants him. Less than three per cent were for someone else.

President Eisenhower is now entered in primaries in eight states and Alaska which will have a total of 340 votes in the 1952 vote convention. It is expected that "Ike" will receive an additional 56 votes from Ohio's primary where Senator Bricker, "a favorite son," favors Eisenhower. Senator Knowland of California has withdrawn from these primaries where it is too late to withdraw. He too favors Eisenhower.

California's Governor Goodwin J. Knight suggested to Democrats "giants in American political history" by supporting President Eisenhower in the forthcoming election. He said there are many Democratic leaders who "placed patriotic above partisan politics" to support Abe Lincoln in his bid for a second term during the War Between the States. He lauded President Eisenhower as the "best man qualified to lead our country and the nations of the free world."

This statement concerning President Eisenhower's qualifications is supported by the economic progress of the nation. It was interesting to note the changes on the stock market when the world learned of the President's heart attack and the changes when he announced his capability to accept the Republican nomination.

It would truly be a memorable event if leaders of both parties placed patriotism above partisan politics. For political leaders should begin to think in terms of the things that will benefit the nation as a whole rather than the party's appeal to the voters.

Governor Knight's attitude is one that should be adopted by many more of our nation's leaders.

As for the Democratic party, they are likely prospects for the nomination at this time. Both Senator Estes Kefauver and Adlai E. Stevenson are entered in six state primaries and Alaska. However they will clash in only four states: New Hampshire, first in the nation on March 13; Minnesota, on March 20; Florida, and California. In addition, Stevenson is entered in the primaries of Illinois and Pennsylvania while Kefauver is entered in New Jersey and Wisconsin.

On Solitude

By J. Campbell, Jr.

Few have ever experienced the joys and delights of blissful solitude. To these precious few—moments of solitude are the most rewarding moments that life has to offer. For only then is the manifestation of being clearly and distinctly revealed. It is during the solitary moments that one gains fleeting and evanescent glimpses into life's ultimate purpose.

At night when the cacophonies of the day have subsided a solitary walk through the woods, in the field or along the waterfront, fills one's soul with an infinite degree of worth. The omnipresent feeling of one's insignificance in this vast universe is eased and diluted by awareness of one's dignity and of one's relationship to the birds, to the trees and flowers—indeed, to all of the things of the world. In losing one's identity, one's self is amalgamated with nature. Time ceases. So profound is this fusing of one's self with nature that a vague and nebulous consciousness of existence since time immemorial is experienced in the inner being.

Solitude brings to one an immense feeling of insouciance. There is no more worry, weariness, anxiety, and worry. Present debts and future fears vanish. The body and the soul are free from all concern. The mind is free from all care. The magnificent universe engulf one with awe. Only in the midst of these solitary moments does one experience true happiness with life.

Such are the rewards of solitude. But few—precious few—will ever reap its rewards. The price of solitude is loneliness. To fear a price for most, because it has been so hard-learned to live with themselves.

Nine Tigers Say Goodbye

When the final buzzer sounded in the championship games that were played between Savannah State and Albany State last night, boys and girls it meant more than a victory. It meant Savannah State's girls and a 74-72 defeat for the Savannah State boys.

This final signal meant that Savannah State was losing 9 of the best basketball players that have ever performed on a basketball court for the Tigers. Minnie Kornegay, Gwendolyn Kell, E. Z. McDaniels, Edith Ray and Gladys Redicks have played their final game with the Tigarettes and Nicholas, L. J. Daniels, E. Z. McDaniels and Richard Washington are saying goodbye to the Tigers squad.

All of these graduating Tigarettes and Tigers were members of their high school basketball teams. Several of them have been selected to the all conference teams at least once during their college careers.

In 1956 this Press Institute is endorsed by the Georgia Inter-scholastic Association was organized as a local project, but because of increased interest, the participation now includes students throughout the state of Georgia, and nationally named consultants. The Institute was organized to encourage student publications, to extend their influence, to raise their standards, to promote the belief that they are means of education and not an end in themselves, to consider them as media of expression for the best in thought and writing, to foster a sympathetic understanding between advisors, the administration of schools and the community, to aid those who are in need of assistance, and to serve as a clearing house for all matters that are of mutual interest.

The press institute is a member of the National Council of Scholastic Press and Advisors Association as well as a member of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association. Wilton C. Scott is the director of the Institute and various members of the faculty will serve as co-ordinators.

The Ions Of A Goal

First of all was the decision I next liked the application. Back came a letter of tentative Admission.
So began I immediately to take requisition.
And next, a trip to the station. The purpose was to make reservation.
A brief visit with authorities for consultation

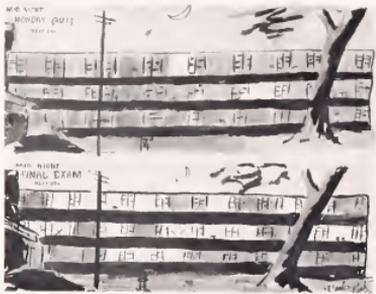

On matters that needed clarification.
Another trip to the depot in repetition.
On bus this time for destination. I was greeted upon arrival with cordial reception.
Busy the next day with registration.
I proceeded to the building of administration.
A veteran, of course, but the registrar said, "tuition."
The very first week was for orientation.
The following week was for initiation.

Taking everything under consideration I started out with great determination. So much research and elaboration Getting ready for reports and examination
Would I survive all that follows matriculation,
For the immeditation goal of graduation???

✓Yearbook Finished
According to Mr. James O. Thomas, the editor-in-chief of the Tiger (College Annual), all of the work has been completed on the 1955-56 edition of the Tiger.

This annual will be ready for distribution by May 1, 1956. This edition of the Tiger will have 100 pages that will contain pictures of the campus organizations, the football team, the basketball teams, faculty members, students and many campus scenes.

For the seniors, there is a directory of all their classmates and all of the organizations in which they participated are listed beside their names.

Top Cookie Pushers

According to a recent survey that was taken on the campus at the beginning of this month, the following students have been seen pushing more cookies (holding hands) than any other students on the campus at Savannah State College.

Since this is Leap Year, it has been rather hard for the rating committee to decide who is pushing who. However, they agreed that Charles Ashe seems to be pushing harder than ever. However, Uncle Lassiter is trying to take the advantage. It seems as though Wright and his gang have heard the record "Changing Partners" too much. Nevertheless they are still pushing. James Freeman and David Philson are due some special recognition. Jewel Mitchell and his home boy, Willie Bakcholer, isn't wanting any time. Daniel

Nicholas seems to be more fortunate than John Arnold who is trying to make a strong comeback. Andrew Russell, Wilbert Manor, Frank Chapel, Anderson Kelly, Willie C. Hamilton, Wilson Walker, Oliver V. Trade Conference March 29-30

By Roosevelt J. Williams
On March 29-30, Savannah State College will sponsor the Sixth Georgia Youth Industrial Education Association Trade Conference. Accompanied by their instructors, approximately 200 boys and girls from high schools throughout the state of Georgia are expected to be present at Savannah State to compete for the many performance awards.

Competitive performance tests will be held in auto mechanics, drawing, brick making, carpentry, leather craft, mechanical drawing, shoe repairing, plastering, tailoring and practical nursing. There will also be DCT essay writing and DCT oratorical contests.

Last year a new phase was added to the Industrial Arts Contest. Students presented projects that were to be judged which they had made in their schools. This will also be an outstanding feature of this year's contest.

For the participants of the many contests, the Department of Industrial Education here at Savannah State College has made plans for the awards and entertainment after the contests.
