Modern Equipment-Facilities Features of New Buildings

The work on the new Men's Dormitory, opposite Hill Hall, is progressing very rapidly. The building is to be equipped with modern furniture and facilities. S.S.C. men will be able to enjoy their beautiful surroundings and gain from the advantages of a home-like atmosphere.

Annex to Gymnasium—

The annex to the famous Wilson Gymnasium will have many interesting features. There will be more floor space for basketball and other recreational activities. Showers are to be installed and service units for the men and the women students. Adequate storage facilities will be provided for supplies.

Work in the Book—

How many of us around the campus have stopped to observe how the maintenance crew handles the moving and transportation of large equipment around the campus with inadequate facilities and manpower. An interesting note was seen while the men were moving fridges, stoves, a ten-and-pound deep freeze and other equipment out of Hammond Hall prior to renovation. A mop—just a lousy scrub mop was used to pull the weight of these heavy objects across the floor and out of the building to be hauled on the moving truck. A factual demonstration of the laws of physics—stress, strain, balance and equilibrium. These men are not of the classroom or of books. Their sole responsibility is to get the job done, wherever the order, and they do it. Our thanks and respect to the Department of Buildings and Grounds.

Books and Merit—

The Division of Home Economics is happy to announce the fact that Hammond Hall is undergoing a complete face lifting. A new addition is being added to accommodate separate offices for the area of clothing and textiles and foods and nutrition; faculty and student lounges, toilet and dressing room facilities for men and women. A recreation and refreshment program will bring the classrooms up to date and in readiness for the latest trends in teaching. A feature in the modern kitchen designed by Crutley will be a demonstration unit in the freezing and laundry areas.

Opening—

A formal opening will be held in order that the campus family and gen-

Enrollment 958 -- Deserving Students Make Dean's List

SSC Alumni to Raise $10,000 Scholarship Fund

Robert Young, a graduate of Savannah State College and Cornell University, has been selected as general chairman of Savannah State College Alumni Scholarship Fund. He is the vice-chancellor and agricultural teacher at Hayes Hester Junior High School and the founder of Montgomery Community Center. According to an announcement by John McChockin, president of Savannah State College Alumni Association, the general alumni began the New Year by initiating a $10,000 scholarship and program. Every alumnus has been called upon to contribute freely. The minimum of $10 has been requested from all graduates and former students. Those who are able, are being asked to give from $100 to $500. The scholarship aid program is headed by the alumni committee representing a cross section of Georgia. This fund will be used primarily to recruit good football prospects. The state has been divided into eleven regional districts corresponding to the Georgia Teacher Education Association Regions. Reports or donations can be made through the local chapter or district representatives or any individual can send donations directly to Ernest R. Spikes, P. O. Box 563, Griffin, Georgia. Mr. Spikes is

Persons appointed to work in the regional districts are: Arthur Heyward, Charles Habert, E. S. Spikes, J. E. Robinson, Young Webb, Arthur Birchbourn, Homer Edwards, J. W. Horne, J. W. Hill, L. S. Young, M. Thomas, Prince Jackson, Jr., C. C. Hall and Mrs. Dorothy Burman; Medford Hebb, Waverly, Loretta Gilmore, Mr. C. W. McVey, Mrs. Ruth McLean, Moses Leonard Lee and Charles Rooks. Members of the alumni

The Seventh Annual Leadership Institute was held at Savannah State College January 24-29, 1954. The Institute Committee planned a varied program to meet the interests of the community and the College.

The keynote sermon was delivered by Rev. J. H. Eggert, Pastor, Ashbury Methodist Church. The music for this service was presented by the chorus of the new Georgia DeRenne Elementary School, under the direction of Mrs. Jeanette L. Flaker and Miss E. Vivian Baker.

The speaker for the All College Assembly was Father Ferdinand Barker, Principal, Pope John High School. He further developed the theme of the week, "Preparing Youth for Leadership Responsibilities."

"Community Night" was held in the College Center Thursday night. Highlighting this event was a panel discussion centered around the theme, with special emphasis on the home, the school and the community. Miss Lillian Jackson was coordinator. The members of the panel were Mr. Erber S. Warrick, Principal, East Broad Street School; Miss Marguerite Mauns, Executive Director, Family Service of Savannah, Inc.; Mr. P. H. Stone, State Agent for Negro Work, Georgia Agriculture Extension Service. Representatives of the local night school and our own college night school were present at this program.

Other events of the week included seminars in parliamentary procedure, film forums, and a clinic for student organizations sponsored by the Student Council with Mr. Timothy Eyles and Mrs. Louise L. Oves serving as consultants. The sessions on parliamentary procedure were the regular meetings of Freshman Dictation classes. The "guest professors" for these classes were Dr. E. K. Williams, Mr. Ben Ingersoll, Mrs. O. C. Seabrook, Mr. E. A. Pettrani, Mr. E. J. Dean, Mr. W. E. Griffin, Mr. A. E. Prosser and Mrs. L. C. Uplsher.

Press Institute April 1 - 2

The Fifth Annual State Wide Press Institute will be held at Savannah State College April 1 and 2. John Seag, teacher, publisher and editor for the Chicago Defender, will serve as consultant. Among other consultants will be William Gordon, managing editor of the Atlanta Daily World; Marion Jackson of the Atlanta Daily World; Mrs. Mildred Jones, news editor for the Macon News and Telegraph. Miss Juanita Sellers, Savannah State College student publication advisor, will serve as director; William H. Bowers, associate director; Marion Jackson, co-ordinator; Wilbur C. Scott, director of public relations, the chairman.

The Press Institute will have four divisions—A division for faculty advisors of student newspapers; student advisors of high schools; student advisors of elementary schools; and a division for contributing editors to city, daily and weekly newspapers. All desiring to participate should address a letter to the Fifth Annual State Wide Press Institute, Savannah State College.

Religious Emphasis Week Scheduled

Annually, a week is set aside to place emphasis on religion. This is a non-demonstrative activity which serves to answer many of the perplexing problems with which men and women are confronted in such a changing world. The week is so divided as to take in many of the phases of religion in general. One of the different features is "sceptical hour" which serves to answer some of the doubts and "doubtful Thomases" questions. Religious emphasis week serves to enrich the minds of the young men and women attending Savannah State College. Gradually, many of them are beginning to realize and appreciate the benefits derived from such a worthwhile activity.

Young men and women should keep in mind the Bible serves as our guide to living in a complex world. By gaining an understanding of many of the biblical passages in the Bible, we can learn to appreciate them as we would never by such authors as Frank Yerby and Paul J. Wellman.

Support the programs scheduled during Religious Emphasis Week, March 7-11.

SSC Alumni get Ph. D. Degrees

Howard C. Williams, a 1942 graduate of Savannah State College and Jullin H. Goolen, a 1946 graduate of Savannah State, received their Ph.D.'s from Ohio State University, Geor. Kent, a 1941 graduate of Savannah State, also received his Ph. D. from Boston University.

Patience - Virtue

During the recent construction developments of our college, we can observe an overflow of activity all over the campus. Some of these are: the construction of a men's dormitory; an annex to Wilcox Gymnasium; the building of a centralized heating plant; and an independent water supply for the college; renovations of Hammond and Melvin Halls.

Realizing that all of the constructions just mentioned are for the growth of our institution, we should accept the construction that accompany them unreluctantly and without hardships and realize the value of the things that we have already and are striving to preserve. As serious thinkers students of Savannah State College and prospective leaders of America, it is our duty and responsibility to look upon such things as milestones of our culture and advancement.

Make the New Year Prosperous

By Mary Lois Falson '56

As New Year's Day, the first of January bears a prominent place in the popular calendar, it is a custom for us to see the old year out and the new year in with the highest demonstration of merriment and conviviality. To but few, as day is a noncommittal subtraction of another year from the little sum of life. With the multitude, the sort of feeling is a desire to express good wishes for the past twelve months; experiences of their friends and similar experiences of the part of others.

No matter how successful we have been in the past year, we look forward to the coming year with more success. With this in mind, we should be guided by certain principles.

The golden rule must be followed. Under our constitution and laws, his liberty and the pursuit of happiness are the inalienable rights of all men. No one has the right to deprive another of his inalienable rights. It follows then—"do unto others as you would have them do unto you."

Take Pride in Your Work

Pauline Silas, '55

At the time that we were told, we took pride in our accomplishments. As children, we took pride in the ability to play a game better than the next youngster. As we grow older, we take pride in our personal appearance and our social advancement.

As students, we should take pride in our work. After all, our daily work is the best identification of the sort of

In early childhood, we were taught that the little things are the essential elements which constitute a firm and solid foundation for happiness and prosperity. Why not make this a present day application? This can be done by abstaining from those things which contribute to the unattractiveness of our campus due to construction construction, and by perpetuating within ourselves a feeling of tolerance and endurance.

Truly this problem is a serious and complicated one; yet, it can be solved with a little forethought. The best way to solve it is by unity. Wherever there is unity, there is strength; wherever there is strength, there is power. Unity, strength and power yield work and accomplishment.

Fellow students, let us give this matter consideration. Our patience is solicited, our thoughtfulness will be appreciated and our cooperation is indispensable.

We must not keep a partnership with Satan. In a partnership the partners are supposed to work together for the common interest, but with Satan as a partner, you do all the work and he takes the reward.

Honesty must be practiced. This is a question of character. The law demands that all men shall be honest but the maximum say it is the "best policy" to be honest. To be honest, truly, a man must be fair in everything that pertains to his fellow.

Finally, we must keep an eye on the future. It is true that we are living in the present but we do not stop with today or stand still. The past is dead and we should let the past bury the past. No one can proceed if he must start new every tomorrow that comes to him in life. He must have done something that can not be completed except in the future.

We must shape events, our lives and our doings to make this year a prosperous one.

people we are. One of the best ways to take real pride in our daily work is to do it carefully. We must remember that in the long run, we get out of work just what we put into it. When we take pride in our work and do it carefully, we get the satisfaction of having done a good job.

Let us have a principle from observing the tack—it's head keeps it from going too far.

Current News

By Thomas B. Evans, '55

The announcement by President Eisenhower that the United States is willing to discuss a world atom-for-peace pool plan with Russia still holds the spotlight on international news.

This proposal by the United States is aimed at breaking the long-standing deadlock on ultimate control of the atomic and hydrogen weapons in warfare.

I predict, that when the Big Four foreign ministers meet next month in Geneva, they will accept these proposals with, perhaps, some changes. President Eisenhower's State of the Union message drew considerable criticism as well as applause. When the chief executive failed to include recommendations of strengthening civil rights, he left himself open for attack by militant members of the House. In making his own case for civil rights legislation, in making proposals dealing with reductions of voting age, tax reductions and methods of handling noncommunist communists, the President made it possible to make other fractions and clips to form little lines against him.

In the entertainment world, the surprise marriage of the great Yankee Clipper, Joe DiMaggio, to the most talked about female actress, Marilyn Monroe, brought quite a surprise to the American public. It had been rumored that the two were engaged. Will the marriage be a success or will it follow the general Hollywood trend? Only time will tell.

Let's look in on the sports world. In collegiate basketball, Kentucky still remains unbeaten and the nation's No. 1 team. There are two more unbeaten teams in the collegiate rank. They are Duquesne and Western Michigan.

I predict that Duquesne will be national champions when the season is over. The "Dukes" really have a team this year.

ANALYSIS
This is the first of a series of articles that this reporter will do of this nature. I hope that it will benefit the social studies majors in particular as well as the other students.

I believe that an atom-for-peace pool plan would benefit all nations. This means that no longer would the threat of atomic destruction be felt. It has been established that atomic energy can be converted into useful purposes as well as destructive ones.

It is our hope that you will accept these proposals by the United States at the Big Four Foreign Ministers' conference in Berlin on January 25, I am forced to believe that they do not want world peace.

The stand of the Administration on tax reductions, reductions in voting age and civil rights will be felt in the coming Congressional elections. Some of the promises have not been fulfilled.

The slight alteration in the Russian foreign policy somewhat ways the American public in believing that the Soviet wants to cooperate with the West.

S. S. C. Welcomes New Professor

President Payne announces that Vernon S. Stone has been appointed professor of Business at S.S.C. Dr. Stone received his A. B. degree from Central YMCA College, Chicago, in 1948, with majors in English and education, and minors in business and music. He received his M. B. A. degree from the University of Chicago, conferred "with honors" for distinctive research in 1952, in handling administration, with concentration in business education. Dr. Stone received his Ph.D. from the University of California at Berkeley, in 1953, in education, with concentration in educational psychology and statistics. He is also a formal candidate for the Ph.D. degree, at the University of Chicago, in business administration. Dr. Stone is a member of Phi Delta Kappa fraternity.

Dr. Stone taught for several years in public high schools, private colleges, proprietary schools and military service academic organizations. He recently left the position of controller for a personal-injury, negligence law firm located in Berkeley, California. Previously, he was professional editor, general and convention reporter, having reported the Rosenberg war crimes trial on Nuremberg, Germany, as a civilian in post-war Germany. Also, he was official verbatim reporter for Dr. Bauer's mission for Palestine, U. S. A., Haifa, Israel.

TO F. D. R.

Timothy U. Ryals, '54

One of the greatest leaders that ever lived

To whom we bow and reverence give
A man who ranks among the great
A man who had courage and faith—

An honorable man, sadly planned
To lead, to help, and to command,
Hold this nation through many a storm
Before he was called to his immortal home—

We shall cherish his name deep in our hearts
And as the years go by, it will not fade from our part.

AT WINTER

Myrtle Alison, '54

Along the shady lanes
Across the grassy level
Beneath the moon-beam suns
The masses of students pass on.

Their cheeks are kissed by the sun
And hidden by the wind,
Their bodies are bent to shield themselves
In a twist, a twirl, and a spin.

Carefree girls in skirts that flutter
With every breeze that passes,
Tiptoe on their high-loose shoes
And smile into class—

First man with coat collar high
Their heads with brights rays covered,
Tare slowly against the wind to yell
Real cool, "How goes it, brother?"
Big athletes in knitted boots
Dugouters most faded white,
Whistle to a distant post
Who answers, "all right, man, all right."

THOUGHTS IN SPACE

Gertrude Ford, '58

I live on the planet Venus and walk in the sky to watch the wanderers of the universe.

How beautiful I think as I look at the earth, a lovely ball rotating in space as the moon slowly travels around it. When I am lonely I walk lamp-post and listen to the sound of music as stars float about me. I sit in a golden chair in the center of an angle ring.

My chair revolves in space and rocks me to the sound of slow, melancholy music. Dull violet, orange and rose light floods the space.

Oh it is more than a dream!

THRIFT

Sutton Green, '55

To see a budget, a method of spending,
To see a schedule, a method of timing,
Are signs of wealth and thoughtfulness.

Never use two words where one will do,
And adjectives, refrain to readure,
Let friends be a chosen few,
And you have thriftiness.

Dr. Stone has an affable personality and a very scholarly background; he is most sincerely an asset to the S.S.C. family.

LONNYE'S PEN

Happy New Year to all the members of the Savannah State College faculty and to all the new students who are entered for the first time. We extend to you a cordial welcome into our whirlpool of society.

Elizabeth Baldwin announces the engagement of her charming daughter, Miss Evelyn Marlene Lindley, to Mr. Walter Samuel McGill, the son of Mrs. Anne Bell McGill. Miss Lindley is a sophomore majoring in mathematics and a member of Delta Sigma Theta Society. She is from Columbus, Georgia. Mr. McGill is a Junior majoring in industrial education and a member of the Omega Psi Phi fraternity. He is from Dublin, Georgia. Both are students here at Savannah State.

Rev. and Mrs. Spencer Reeves, Sr., announce the betrothal of their daughter, Miss Lois Della Reeves, to William Tony Lumpkin, son of Mrs. Walter Lumpkin of Waycross, Georgia. Miss Reeves is a senior at Savannah State College where she is majoring in General Science and a member of Delta Sigma Society, Dramatic Club, and Creative Dance Group. Mr. Lumpkin is a senior at Savannah State and a member of Omega Psi Phi fraternity. He is now serving the United States Army.

The concert given of Savannah State College witnessed a great performance given by Alfredo Campoli, a violinist. Mr. Campoli is in the process of making his first United States Concert tour.

The concert given at our Lyceum program is Jean Lou Desjard and his Haitian Dance Group, Tuesday, March 23, 1954, 8:15 p. m., Meldrum Auditorium.

The S.S.C. concert group enjoys the eminent virtuoso, Alfredo Campoli, violinist, in concert on January 18, 1954. Greek Letter Organizations

Alpha Phi Alpha

Delta Eta Chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha extends to you all the success this New Year can bring.

"We welcome back into the fold Brother Theodor N. Collins, Jr., who has returned from the armed forces. Brother Collins' return signifies a worthy spokesman in our crusade for leadership and love for all mankind.

"At the present, the chapter is busy preparing beneficial activities for the development of letter all around students on our campus. The chapter is very much interested in this particular phase of our college life; therefore, we are going to conduct a series of activities that we hope will interest the entire student body.

Look forward to a year of inspirational activities with Alpha Phi Alpha.

Alpha Kappa Alpha

The Sisters of the Gamma Upsilon Chapter of the Alpha Kappa Society have begun to administer plans for the year of 1954.

It was the Sisters' desire to help make Christmas merry for those persons who were unable to obtain the customary Christmas trimmings. Therefore, they chose three needy families and donated baskets of food so that these families were able to enjoy the riches of Christmas.

We, as sisters, and delinquents of our motto "Supreme in Service to All Mankind," firmly believe that it is our duty to help those we find in need.

We wish the presence of our dear sisters who are performing student teaching this quarter. They are: Sares Jean Miller, Gertrude Thomas, Beatrice Dee and Gladis Chibins.

The Sisters of the Alpha Kappa Alpha Society wish each of you success and prosperity throughout the New Year.

Kappa Alpha Psi

Happy New Year from all the Kappas. The Kappas are proud to have twelve brothers enrolled this quarter. After a very busy yuletide vacation, the Kappas have settled down, and have begun to study intently in their various fields, so as to make a good bid for the Greek Letter Scholarship Achievement Award. This award will be presented in April during the Kappas' annual Gaudete-rite Program.

The Kappas promise to present many cultural and entertaining activities during the year 1954. In April the Kappas will present their Third Annual Variety Show. This show promises to be bigger and better than the previous performances. If you, by some misadventure, were unable to make any of the previous performances, stick a pin in the Moon calendar for the date of the Variety Show, which is to be given later. Make this a must in your date book; it promises to be the top entertainment on the campus during the year 1954.

"The Kappa Shogun-tennis" — champions of the 1953 interracial basketball play, have started their training for this year's opposition. They claim that they will retain their title this year. Watch their smokes!

Delta Sigma Theta

The members of Delta Nu Chapter have already begun to exemplify their scholastic abilities for the last half of this school year.

We are proud to boast that at the present time there are only two women in Alpha Kappa Nu Honorary Society here on Savannah State's campus and they are Lillie Jackson, President and Ann Eason, Secretary. Both Delta women, Davis A. Sanders, a Delta, and Julia Hendrix, a Pyramid, are no pledges for Alpha Kappa Nu.

Several Delts and Pyramids made the Dean's List and Honor Roll for the past quarter. We hope to keep up the good work. To maintain scholastic status is one of our highest standards.

The O's returned after the Christmas holidays with their eyes, minds and hearts focused on their annual Mardi Gras Ball. They are, at present, hard at work, making preparations for the event that will be on the 29th of February.

The Mardi Gras Ball, this year, should be a gala affair with everyone sporting odd colors.

The O's have taken their turnouts out of textbooks and are getting their ready for the occasion.

Let's have a New Orleans Mardi Gras at S.S.C.

Books for the New Year

One of the nicest things about our New Year's resolutions, is that they show we have taken time to think about our activities during the past year and found them wanting. Why else would we make those promises to do better work, participate in more activities or read more for recreation?

Some of our literary patrons share with us their impressions of "The Best Book I Have Read This Year." "I recommend to all lovers of good reading THE CARDINAL by Henry Morton Robinson. Though not a current best seller, it should be a must on your reading list.

It is a warm, human, well-written story of a Catholic priest who rose from a humble beginning to a high office in the Catholic Church and became a warrior of the real hat. The main character embodies qualities of not one priest but several priests who in some way left or make an impression upon the reader.

Though written by a Catholic priest this book is by no means wholly Catholic and, I am sure, will be enjoyed by all who read it. I do not hesitate to say that it is by far one of the best books I have ever read."—Miss Mildred E. Marquis.

"DEATH BE NOT PROUD, by John H. Guther is not the usual type of biography that is read every day, but the memoir of Mr. Guther's son who has passed through the gates of the Eternal.

Mr. Guther combines all of the facts of his son's life—before and during the long years of illness, recovery, and the time of his death.

Truly, this biography was superbly written, and I advise all literary enthusiasts who have not read this book to read it and see if they don't feel as I did."—George Johnson.

"For the more mature mind CLARA, by William L. Coleman, is an excellent novel of race qualities rather than race prejudices. Out of the heat and violence of the smalltown South comes this story of a smoldering struggle between servant and mistress for the love and life of one weak, drink-sick man. This is a book that you will long remember."—Mrs. Daisy Fraser.

"STUDIES IN LEADERSHIP, ed. by Goodrich, is a comprehensive study of leaders and leadership. Of particular importance is the chapter entitled Leaders Among Negroes in the U. S. This chapter deals with the philosophy of Booker T. Washington, W. E. B. Dubois, Marcus Garvey and other major leaders."—W. E. Griffin.

"ELIZABETH AND THE PRINCE OF SPAIN by Margaret Irwin was, indeed, an interesting and entertaining novel based on historical facts of the

Alfredo Campoli in Initial U. S. Performance

Joseph Brown, '50

"Music had charm to soothe the savage breast . . ." On January 18, 1954, we were honored with a wonderful concert given by Mr. Alfredo Campoli, "hercules of violinists," accompanied by Mr. Wilton Mason.

Mr. Campoli is among the greatest violinists of our time. A student of his father, violin professor and leader of the Santa Cecilia Conservatory in Rome, Campoli began his concert career in London where he was only ten years old. Within three years, he was ten music prizes and five years later won the coveted Gold Medal of the London Musical Festival for his performance of the Mendelssohn Concerto.

Campoli is today one of the great European violinists. He has been guest soloists under the batons of such famous conductors as Beethoven, Fard, Rost and Susakind. The virtuoso has toured the British Isles, the European Continent, Australia and New Zealand. Famous for his amazing technique, the beauty of his tone and his penetrating interpretations, Campoli will be a well-earned addition to the American concert world.

The program began with Sonata in C Minor (The Devil's Trill) by Giuseppe Tartini. Music was superbly played that ranged from the 17th to the 20th centuries. The program was climaxed with La Campanella by Nicolo Paganini-Kreutzer. The applause encouraged the virtuoso to return with a modern day encore.

Mr. Campoli has several concerts to give before returning to England. We were fortunate because we were among the first in the United States to hear him.

After the concert, Mr. Campoli and Mr. Mason autographed programs for enthusiastic concert goers.

—That is so in love with a girl in Camille Hulbert Hall and is afraid of his girlfriend in the city? Is it you D. N.?

—That can walk away from a girl and is so irresistible that she is compelled to follow him? Could it be you W. T.?

—That is running Marilyn Monroe a close second? Is it you D. H.?

—That is only a freshman and has won the heart of the head man of the campus? Is it you C. P.?

—That has lost the charming smile to read it and see if they don't feel as I did?—George Johnson.

Coach "Tel" Wright and his powerful Savannah State Tigers opened the 1953-54 basketball season on December 5, with the Clark College Panthers of Atlanta, Georgia, and came out on a long lead with two victories and one loss.

Clark College, led by "Big" Roman Turman with 30 points, won the first game, 65-58. Noel Wright and Henry Frazier were the top scorers for the Tigers with 17 points each.

With the gymnasium full and the fans on their feet, Savannah State came from behind in the last three minutes to edge Clark College 65-64. It was an exciting game as the lead changed hands numbers of times. Savannah took a 17-14 lead as the first quarter ended but found themselves behind 34-31 at half time.

Again the Tigers were trailing the Panthers 47-49 at the third quarter. With the sharp-shooting of Savannah State's Robert Lewis and Otis Brock, the score began to change hands with neither team able to get over a three-point lead. The Tigers took the lead in the last three minutes and went on to win the hard fought victory.

Clark's Reginald Threat took scoring honors with 24 points. High points came on their feet, Savannah State came from behind in the last three minutes to edge Clark College 65-64. It was an exciting game as the lead changed hands numbers of times. Savannah took a 17-14 lead as the first quarter ended but found themselves behind 34-31 at half time.

With both teams winning one game each, the Tigers came back strong to win the third game from Clark 50-59. This victory gave Savannah a 2 to 1 edge in the three games that they played.

Williams leads S.S.C. win over Benedict High-scoring Cecil Williams kept his terrific point making as Savannah State College rolled over Benedict College 77-65.

The six-foot seven-inch center who hails from Panama hit the net for 39 points to hang up high scoring honoree, S.S.C. Divided With Fla. A.M.

The powerful Rattlers from Florida A.M. University landed the highly rated Savannah State Tigers and left satisfied after winning one and losing one.

With guard Clayton hitting the net for 39 points, Florida went on to win in the first game 88-67.

In the second game which was played at Beach High School gymnasium, the Tigers won one of the most impressive victories of the school history when they out-scored the Rattlers 68-58.

Cecil Williams was the big gun for the Tigers as he scored 27 points. Robert Lewis was runner up for Savannah as he found the net for 17 points. Beach was high man for Florida with 15 points.

S.S.C. Scores Late: Defeats S. Carolina 66-60

Savannah State secured in 24 points during a swift fourth-period rally to defeat South Carolina State 66-60.

A tight Carolina defense prevented Savannah from taking a lead during the first three periods as they led the Tigers 48-49 at the end of the third quarter. With the dribbling and passing of Dan Nichols, and the sharp-shooting of Cecil Williams and Henry Frazier, the Tigers went on to win another victory.

Savannah State's Cecil Williams was high scorer with 25 points followed by Henry Frazier with 18 points. High scorers for South Carolina State were Tommy Shute and Charles Stenley with 14 and 12 points respectively.

Savannah State 90; Allen University 41 Coach "Tel" Wright and Asst. "Al" Frazier turned loose everything that they had as the Tigers smothered Allen University 90-43 after losing the first 67-69.

Ben Wilson scored 28 points in the first of the two games as Allen edged Savannah 69-67. Noel Wright was high scorer for Savannah with 16 points followed by Cecil Williams and Otis Brock with 14 each.

The Savannah State Tigers were in a revengeful mood as they came back the following night and dethroned Allen 98-43.

LATE SCORES: Savannah State, 84; S. Carolina State, 72. Savannah State, 46; Claflin College, 69.

Miss Irwin was most convincing in her characterizations of Phillip, The Prince of Spain, Mary Taylor and Elizabeth.

—Mrs. Gwendolyn S. Brown.

"Cecil's BEYOND THIS PLACE is written with warm sympathetic understanding. This novel of suspense portrays the belief of a son in the innocence of his father and his determination to free him from prison for a crime he did not commit. Armed only with one weapon—faith—he began a long, agonizing drive for justice and his father's freedom. With the help of his friend, a newspaper man, the whole sordid story was brought to light and his father was granted his freedom."—Miss G. T. Hooper.

"To those who read Science Fiction I recommend YEAK'S BEST SCIENCE FICTION NOVELS, ed. by Bleeker and Dikay.

Here is a book containing the five outstanding novels of 1953; novels written by the world's great science fiction writers—Eric Frank Russell, Walter M. Miller, Frank Robinson, Arthur C. Clark and Paul Anderson.

If you like great cosmic adventures, there is Paul Anderson's Flight to Forever—a dramatic novel that bears one on a strange journey into time and the phenomenal depths of interstellar space. If you prefer to keep your feet on the ground, there is Frank Robinson's The Hunting Season—an exciting story of the fight against a decaying twentieth century police state.

These stories are full of variety and tenderness, violence and hatred . . . reflecting emotions, motives, and situations that are deep and universal in human experience."—Nathan Orell.

31,000 ACTUAL STUDENT INTERVIEWS SHOW COLLEGE SMOKERS PREFER LUCKIES TO ALL OTHER BRANDS!

Latest extensive nationwide survey, supervised by college professors, proves Luckies lead again!

In 1952, a survey of colleges throughout the country showed that smokers in those colleges preferred Luckies to any other cigarette. In 1953, another far more extensive and comprehensive survey—supervised by college professors and based on more than 31,000 actual student interviews—once again proved Luckies' overwhelming popularity. Yes, Luckies lead again over all other brands, regular or king size . . . and by a wide margin! The number-one reason: Luckies' better taste!
