College Announces Addition of Four Persons to Faculty

The Savannah State College community is happy to announce the appointment of four additional faculty members.

Miss Yvonne McGlockton, a native of Savannah, Georgia, is an assistant English instructor at the college. She received her B.A. Degree at Savannah State College and the M.A. Degree at Atlanta University.

Mr. Johnny Campbell, a Savannah State College graduate and a native of Ft. Screven, Georgia, is employed as an instructor of Economics. He received his B.S. Degree at Savannah State College and the M.S. Degree at Atlanta University.

Mr. Wilbur C. McAfee, a native of Tennessee, is employed as Associate Professor of Social Science. He received his B.S. Degree at Southern Illinois, the M.S. Degree at the University of Illinois, and he has done extensive work toward the doctoral degree at the University of Illinois.

Dr. James A. Eaton, a native of Portsmouth, Virginia, is employed as the Director of Testing and Guidance. He received his A.B. Degree at Boston University, and the Ed.D. Degree at Columbia University.

Selection of New President Hailed By College Community; Jordan Is Former SSC Student

By Gwendolyn Buchanan
The Savannah State College family welcomes Dr. Howard Jordan, Jr., our new president.

Dr. Jordan, a former student of Savannah State College has returned home. He attended Savannah State during his freshman and sophomore years. He completed his junior and senior years at South Carolina State College. In 1948 he received a Bachelor of Science degree in education there.

In 1939, at Howard University in Washington, D. C. he received his Master of Arts degree. He was awarded the degree of Doctor of Education by New York University in 1956.

At South Carolina State College, Dr. Jordan has served as instructor, Associate Professor and Professor of Education. He has served as Chairman of the Department of Education, first dean and organizer of the School of Education at Carolina State College. Presently he is Dean of Faculty at South Carolina State College. At Carolina State he has worked closely with the State Department of Education and the State Teacher Education Council. With these departments, he helped develop programs of teacher education and certification in the state of South Carolina. Recently he was a member of the special State Committee to Revise Certification Procedure for the State.

Dr. Jordan has served as consultant for many county education associations, and for various professional organizations.

commencement speaker and organizer of high school testing program.

The social organizations that he is affiliated with are Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Incorporated, Edisto Lodge #29 and Accepted Mason and Alpha Iota Beta, Sigma Phi Phi Fraternity.

Dr. Jordan has worked as a consultant with the South Carolina Department of Education, and the South Carolina County Education Association.

He is a member of the American Psychological Association; the S. C. Psychological Association; the National Education Ass'n; the American Council on Education; the National Society for Study of Education; the American Teachers Ass'n; the Fulbright Education Ass'n; the Department of Audio-Visual Education, NEA, Phi Delta Kappa and Alpha Kappa Mu Honor Societies.

He has been a member of the Savannah State College faculty for the past 16 years. He will remain at South Carolina State until he completes his duties there sometime in October.

Our new president has been spoken of as an excellent public speaker and a possessor of an excellent personality.

Dr. Jordan said he is happy to serve Savannah State College as its sixth president. He is proud of the distinguished men and women who make up Savannah State's Administrative Staff and faculty.

With the co-operation of the administrative staff, the faculty, the students and alumni, Dr. Jordan said he will be able to make SSC one of the outstanding institutions in this section.

We welcome President Jordan and his family, and we offer him all the co-operation that a college family has to offer to their president.

DR. HOWARD JORDAN, JR.
President of Savannah State College

Federal Aid to Education Debate Topic For Season

The SSC Collegiate Debating Society is in the midst of preparing for its forthcoming debating season.

The debate topic for this year is Resolved: That the Federal Government should guarantee an opportunity for higher education to all qualified high school graduates.

James Brown, president of the Debating Society, contends that the SSC debaters are looking forward to a banner year.

Although the Debating Society lost two of its key debaters the advisor when questioned on the subject and weaknesses of the society seemed optimistic because of the fact that several replacements have been made. The advisor feels that these new contestants are looking forward to a banner year.

Commenting on the topic for the year, Mr. E. J. Josey, Advisor for the society stated that "The topic itself is very timely. Never before in the history of our nation have there been so many youths hungry for an opportunity for higher education. Because of family financial problems, these qualified youngsters are not able to continue their education beyond high school."

Other officers of the Debating Society are Robert Patrick, vice president; Theresa Smart, secretary; and Alex Haberstein, reporter.

Yale University Announces Bold, Far-Reaching Plan

Yale University announces a bold and far-reaching plan to bring the humanities and social sciences into line with the support which government agencies and foundations have given to the physical and life sciences.

Student Representatives Choose Belores Bowens As "Miss Savannah State College" For '63-64 Over Three Other Candidates Seeking Title

By Hazel Johnson
The charming Miss Delores Bowens, our new Miss SSC was unanimously chosen by the student representatives as Queen for the 1963-64 school year. The students of Savannah State College hail Miss BOWENS as an ideal person and feel that the crown is well represented.

Miss BOWENS, a graduate of Monitor High School in her hometown, Fitzgerald, Georgia, is a graceful nineteen year old senior.

Queen Delores is presently pursuing a degree in the area of mathematics, and, after graduation here in the spring, would like to continue her education in graduate school. Miss SSC's ambition is to be a math instructor.

Says Miss SSC, "I believe that life is what you make it. It is just what you put into it, little effort, little gain." Her ideal person is one who has fully developed all of his potential abilities; therefore, she feels that every one's pursuit should be that of excellence.

"I believe that it is most profitable to be a Negro," says Delores, "and more than ever before, well qualified Negroes are in demand."

The dynamic Miss SSC is affiliated with Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority; Alpha Kappa Mu National Society, officiating as secretary and treasurer; Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities; The Newtonian Society; SNEA, Student Council; and the NAACP, and is presently a candidate for Beta Kappa Chi Scientific Honor Society.

Miss SSC challenges each student to make the most of all opportunities open to our race and to all Americans, "Apply yourself fruitfully during your college years."

Queen Delores' court, Misses

Idella Glover, Nora Williams and Matilda Bryan will accompany her in all her splendor during her glorious reign.

Miss Glover, a senior majoring in Chemistry, hails from Savannah, Georgia. Miss Williams, a senior, is specializing in Sociology. She is a native of Statesboro, Georgia. Miss Bryan, a native of Savannah, Georgia, is concentrating in the field of Social Science.

EDITORIAL

By Elmer Thomas

Most of us here are quite aware of the fact that this nation is in the midst of a great struggle to determine if and when Negro citizens will be granted equal and full rights as American citizens.

We salute the individuals responsible for carrying out these efforts, and urge persons to involve themselves with the movement at least as moral supporters if not as active participants.

Much has been said about the righteousness of the struggle for more civil liberties by Negroes, and we do not deem it necessary to present arguments here and now on this particular point.

We do, however, think that it is our responsibility to point out the kind of role we must play in bringing about changes from what has heretofore been the accepted custom.

MORE PRIVILEGES, MORE RESPONSIBILITIES—THIS WE MUST ACCEPT AS TRUE, AND ACT ACCORDINGLY.

Many of us at this college have witnessed and/or participated in a struggle in which one segment of the college population plighted itself against another segment, and we do not deem it necessary to repeat arguments here and now on this particular point.

The real objective of this editorial is to appeal to the good sense of our students in the hopes that such an appeal would result in our coming to realize that being a full citizen not only involves rights and privileges, but certain amounts of co-operation and civic-mindedness are expected from each individual.

As far from the subject as it may seem, the conduct of students during the registration period was far from being desirable. In fact, we feel justified in saying that it was demoralizing and disgraceful.

The attention to which we refer developed while students were waiting "in line" in front of the business office. There was pushing, shoving and numerous displays of un-collegiate conduct.

Part of the blame, we believe, can be placed on the slow and clumsy system of registration used here. While we do not claim to be experts on such matters as registration techniques, we do know of several schools, some much larger than SSC, where registration is not such a long drawn out affair.

Even if the system seems clumsy, there can be no excuse to justify the conduct of Savannah State students on that particular day.

It should be our aim, therefore, to gain all facilities and privileges which should be ours. Along with this, we should see to it that our houses are in order, and remember that not only does a democratic society owe certain rights to men, but men also owe a certain amount of civic-mindedness and co-operation to society.

A Letter to Continuing Students at SSC

Dear Colleagues,

We have by-passed the old quarter at SSC, now we have entered a new one. Let's start off on the right foot and make the best of the new quarter. Let us take advantage of it at our institution.

In this new quarter let us try to grant some constructive contribution that we were not able to obtain in the past quarter.

Perhaps the quarter served some well, maybe not too well to others. To those who were not successful, accept that quarter as a challenge and make SSC worthy of us. Prove to our Alma Mater that we can be the best of our kind in any educational community.

We can not prove this point, nor accept this challenge, by sitting back expecting an award for their efforts.

We must support our student activities and our student government. We must co-operate with our instructors who are here to help us prepare for responsibilities as men and women in future America.

We must all co-operate and work wholeheartedly and alertly. We must be active and alert so everyone can say, "We did it."

During this quarter let our aims be to better Savannah State College in every way and to become worthy students.

Scholarships Awarded to SSC Students

Ten students recently enrolled at Savannah State College were recently awarded scholarships under a program sponsored by the Board of Regents of the University System of Georgia.

Of the ten receiving awards, four are freshmen, two are sophomores and the other three are juniors. Six of ten got scholarships of $600 each, while each of the others received $300 awards.

The names, hometowns, and amount received by each of the five freshmen are as follows: Sandra E. Eivens, Thomasville, $600; Johnny M. Brown, Glenview, $600; Janie A. Carter, Savannah, $300; Gloria A. Duncan, Savannah, $300, and Betty J. Louis, Blakely, $600.

All five of the sophomores and freshmen students held Regents' Scholarships last year.

Sophomores who received awards are Shirley A. Conner, Savannah, received $300 and Louise M. Tarber from Seveven received $600.

The juniors who received scholarships were Gloria J. Johnson, Savannah, $600, Laverna E. Martin, Statesboro, $600, and Rosemary Patton, Cartersville, $600.

How Does It Feel To Be a Problem?

By James Brown, Jr.

Since being brought to this country, the American Negro has been labeled a problem. A problem in that as early as colonization, Negroes or black men were denied the opportunity to serve as indentured servants. This denial was made because black men were treated and looked upon as inhuman. Thus the introduction of slavery was commenced in the new colonies.

Today, more than one hundred years after President Abraham Lincoln signed the Emancipation Proclamation, Negroes are still looked upon as a problem. Being a problem calls for many special considerations. Special rest rooms in public places of accommodation, special restaurants or corners to stand on at special schools to attend, special or limited vocations to earn a livelihood, special residential areas, special buses to ride, and special public places to rest the weary body are some of the many special considerations America has given the Negro citizen.

Since 1960, the American Negro is increasingly saying, "I am not a problem but a man who happens to be a little darker than most men in this country." Today more than ever, the American Negro is denouncing "Special Treatment," and crying, "Ole Freedom over me, and before I'll be a slave, I'll be buried in my grave and go home to my Lord and be free."

The black man has had a long history of fighting for his rights. The black man is constantly fighting for the principle of the world that he is not a problem, nor has he created a problem. The problem was created by white America who refuses to accept the Negro as a first class citizen.

A Chat With A Freshman

By Gwendolyn Buchanan

—Hello Freshmen, welcome to our school. How do you like our campus?

—It is a lovely campus, but don't be so shy and afraid. —Oh! Home sick already? Alone on our big campus, a stranger in a bright new world.

—Don't worry about the upper-classmen; we won't bother you—much.

—Yeah!—Gee dormitory life is wonderful. You girls will only have to sign out when you are ready to leave campus or attend something on campus. —What's better than getting up every morning at six to get ready for breakfast? There's nothing better than coming in every evening at 7:00 P.M.—for—you.

—Instructors' huh!—I wouldn't worry—too much about them. They can be really nice people. They aren't exactly anti-students as you may think. They help you. They won't even flunk you unless you happen to be one of the unlucky few.

—No—I couldn't say the lesson is hard. I'll just say you'll have enough assignments to burn a little hair back to the dorm—sometimes you don't have but three chapters to read.

—I wouldn't worry about passing—just worry about funking.

—Yeah there's plenty to do in your free time.

—You meet on weekends? Well, you can walk to the center, walk to the dining hall, walk to B. J.'s, walk to the shopping center, walk back to the dorm—walk to——What? Something for an energetic person to do?

—Well isn't all of that walking enough?

—So you think you are going to like State?

—I hope you do. You'll find SSC to be one of the best—I hope.

—Gee it was nice talking with you—Hope to see you around.

—Oh no, I'm not a Senior, I'm a second quarter Freshman. I was here this summer.

Poetry Wanted

POETRY WANTED for the new 1963-64 Inter-Collegiate Poetry Congress Anthology. Selections will be based upon poetic merit and chosen from colleges and universities throughout the country. A first prize of $25 will be awarded, with a second and third prize of $15 and $10 respectively. All poetry must be submitted no later than November 25. If accepted, all future publishing rights are to be retained by the author. All contributors shall be notified of the editor's decision within two weeks of receipt of poetry and shall have the opportunity of obtaining the completed anthology, to be in print by mid-December.

Submit to: Inter-Collegiate Poetry Congress, 528 Market Street, Lewisburg, Pennsylvania.

The National Poetry Festival announces the annual closing date for the submission of MSS. by college students is November 5. Any student attending either Junior or Senior College is eligible to submit his verse. There is no limitation as to either form or theme. Shorter works are preferred because of space limitations.

Each poem must be typed or written on a single sheet, and must bear the name and the home address of the student, as well as the name of the college attended.

An Interview With Some Freshmen

By Rosco Edwards

During the beginning of this quarter, your reporter interviewed some of the freshmen to find out their motives for coming to Savannah State College. The following are statements made by some of them.

"Savannah State is the only place where I could play football."

"My parents are alumni."

"Because I heard that the education is very good."

"Because I would like to gain more knowledge before going to nursing school."

"Because an alumnus in my hometown encouraged me to attend."

"Because of the standards of the college and curriculum."

"Because it has a good mathematics department; it's closer to home and I wanted a good education."

"To be a good leader of my community."

"I was influenced by my upper-classmen and I liked the college campus."

"I've always wanted to attend Savannah State; I felt that it offers just what I want."

McNeal Preaches Trial Sermon

Lorenzo Perry McNeal, a student of Savannah State College, a native of Claxton, Georgia, and a graduate of Evans County High School, preached his trial sermon for the ministry at his church in Claxton on September 23, 1963.

This affair was attended by many of his friends from his hometown and Savannah. The sermon was taken from Romans 6:35 using for a theme: "I'll Let You Separate Me from the Love of God."

The Reverend McNeal is a member of Mt. Pleasant Baptist Church of Claxton and for the past years has held the following positions: Vice President of the Senior Choir, Vice President of the Baptist Training Union, and Treasurer of the Choir.

He holds membership in several organizations. Among these are the Social Science Club, Savannah State College, the YMCA, the Royal Ambassadors, Young Christians for Christ, and he's a member of the Tiger's Rear staff.

The Men of Wright Hall

By Robert W. Patrick

With the beginning of a new school year, the students of Savannah State College and the men of Wright Hall are faced with a multiplicity of responsibilities. Under the capable leadership of Mrs. S. H. Watson, the dormitory director, and Oree Rawls, the Dormitory Council president, the residents are assured of a great year.

A premonition by itself is far from being a sufficient basis for predicting a successful year, but with premonition, co-operation and efficient leadership, one could be right in assuming that the staff of Wright Hall can initiate a program that will be workable and one that will meet the vicissitudes of the present day college student.

This year, Wright Hall will be responsible not only for enhancing certain aspects of the college's program, but it also will promote the improvement of personality and character of each student.

As usual, Wright Hall will be striving for a first-place float in the Homecoming Parade.

Plans are in the making for a superior spring ball, a top rate vespers program, and entertainment for the college at large. These affairs, and possibly others, can be expected from Wright Hall as she strives for a successful year.

Y.M.C.A. NEWS NOTES

By Robert Patrick

What is the Young Men's Christian Association? This is the question that many students do not think about today, because of their decreasing interest in the religious aspects of life. This sign of negligence with reference to one's religion is increasing because of the limited number of organizations that are established for the purpose of teaching one to conform with the moral order of society, as well as loving his fellowman, treating others as one wishes to be treated, keeping the commandments and serving the Lord God, not because of legislative forces, but because of a willingness to do right, respect for human dignity and the faith and confidence we have in God.

The Savannah State College Y.M.C.A. is functioning for the purpose of helping to do the following:

1. To develop a growing understanding of christian faith and its meaning for living today.
2. To make students aware of unmet needs, on and off campus, and to enlist them in projects designed to meet such needs.
3. To widen the horizon of students, to eliminate prejudice and provincialism through communication with students and other people of different religious, cultural, racial and national background.
4. To offer fellowship-groups in which a student may have a sense of belonging, a feeling of being somebody and to develop social responsibility.

As president of the Y.M.C.A., I will be the first to be in trying to encourage affiliation with the association. We begin to solicit memberships and are counting on your support.

Business Dept. Refresher Course

A refresher course in shorthand is being offered this quarter at Savannah State College by the division of Business Administration.

Conducting this course is Miss Alberta E. Boston, Miss Boston recently attended the Gregg shorthand course at Northwestern University in Chicago.

The course will be beneficial to individuals not able to attend school during the day and to those who wish to prepare themselves for Civil Service positions, GS-2 GS-3, GS-4, $4580, $1820, and $4110.

Classes for this course will meet twice a week in the evening.

Fall Fashions For Men For 1963

By Earl Waltow

Styles in men's clothes are never changing, though moving in good taste. This general pattern of gradual change is apparent in the fall's fashions of suits, sweaters, and sport coats.

In men's suits, the big fashion news is the trend toward medium tones—in contrast to the somber dark hues that dominated men's wear last fall. Another new fall fashion is the tweed suit in rough textures and brawny herringbone, which are equally at home in the city, suburban area, or country.

Thanks to the President's fondness of the two-button suit, this highly styled model will be extremely popular this fall.

Meanwhile, in sport coats, there is a great revival of the various shades of camel, black and gray.

Sweaters have been almost completely captured by the increasingly popular "Alpaca" look which is appropriate for campus, street, and sports wear.

Council President Greets Students

GREETINGS:

As president of the Student Council, I wish to welcome returning students and offer a hand of fellowship to new students.

Savannah State College is turning with the wheels of progress, and I am sure that you can see evidence of this fact as you journey around our beautiful campus. The wheels of progress have begun to turn for Savannah State College. But whose responsibility is it to accelerate these wheels and maintain a continuous revolution? Permit me to answer this question for you. It is your responsibility as a member of the college family to keep the wheels revolving. Your returning to or your entering Savannah State College is evidence that you want to prepare yourself for the new demands that will confront you in the future. Fellow students, in order to be prepared, you must utilize your time wisely and become devoted to your studies. You will have to engage in extra-treading activities and stop wasting time lounging around the college center and participating in activities that do not contribute to scholarship or preparation for the future.

JACK MILLINES
President of the Student Council

I hope that your stay here at Savannah State College will be a most enlightening and enjoyable one. There may be times when you will be discouraged, but I ask you to keep the faith.

I wish you success in all of your endeavors.

Jack E. Millines,
President of Student Council

Bowling Leagues Being Organized

By Cynthia Lowe

The formation of bowling teams is now in progress at Savannah State College. In this year's organization of bowling teams, we are striving toward more student interest and participation. We also anticipate the setting up of a larger league.

The purpose of the formation of teams in the high schools and colleges is to create better sportsmanship among the students, to give them better coordination and to create in them an appreciation for wholesome activities.

Last year an estimate of seven teams participated in one of the most enjoyable sports of our time from SSC. This year we hope to have a larger participation among the students and the faculty.

Sandra Heyward, president of last year's organization, and Cynthia Lowe, league coordinator of I. J. Hat Lanes, will be available to give anyone interested information concerning the team.

Free bowling instructional classes are being held at I. J. Hat Lanes every Saturday from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. For further information concerning the classes contact Mr. Alphonso McLean or Cynthia Lowe at AD 2-1138.

Library Story Hour

By Jean Stewart

The SSC Library's weekly sponsored "Let's Listen to a Story Hour" reconvened on Thursday afternoon in the college library. The Story Hour is under the direction of Miss Alice Williams, circulation librarian. The Story Hour is open to youngsters in the community from age 3-10. However, periodically, Mrs. Theima Harmond and her Children's Literature class assist with the Story Hour.

The purpose of the Story Hour is to introduce children in the immediate community of Thunderbolt, who are without public library service, to the world of children's books. It is the belief of authorities in the field that the introduction of children to books at a very early age will give them a love for and an appreciation of books.

Esquire's CLUB & CAMPUS FASHIONS

BY O. E. SCHOEFFLER, ESQUIRE'S Fashion Director

Welcome back to the halls of higher learning! And here we go, with the 1963/64 series on correct dress and grooming geared to you—to help you earn extra credits as the well-dressed man-about-campus.

This season, the big topic is the return to tweed—rugged, textured, and in a wide variety of patterns. Take tweed into account when you're picking out your sport jackets, and for a new suit to wear on or off-campus, on weekends, or what you will!

RUNNING NECK AND NECK

In the sweaters for tweed sport jackets are race-track plaids, herringbones and diagonals. Race-track patterns are found in strong, vigorous color combinations like gold, amber and blue, while the biggest thing in herringbone is bold black-and-white or black-and-gray. Multicolor diagonals come in heather tones with a muted, misty effect. Even the ubiquitous blazer is newly disguised in tweed, with broad—almost awning—stripes in unusual and interesting colors. Whatever you choose, your jacket still sports its classic cut, straight-hanging, with natural shoulders, center vent and 3-button closure.

THE CAMELS ARE COMING

This rich, medium brown shade will blend well with every other color in your wardrobe—so look for camel color in sport jackets, cardigans, pullovers and zipper jackets, among other things. You name it—you'll find it in camel!

STRONG, STURDY CORODURY

is still the mainstay of the campus wardrobe—especially in the newer, wider-weave weaves. Sport jackets come equipped with the popular leather patches that keep you from coming out-at-elbow while adding a smart touch. Both jackets and slacks will be in demand in the neutral, natural tone, while olives are with us still. Or you might try the latest carduro—camel, what else?

VARIETY IS THE SPICE OF SLACKS

—as long as the variety's confined to fabric. Cut remains trim and tapered, pleatless and with a plain waistband. Real winners are worsteds with a smooth finish, or wool-and-polyester blends with a flared finish. Take a look at both darker and intermediate tones—oxford grays, olives, dark brown, as well as the midline mixtures—then make your command decision on the basis of the blend or contrast with your jackets.

RIDING HIGH

on cambrays throughout the country, in the hi-clear shoes, new available in smooth leathers like cordovan, as well as brushed leathers. A good choice for all but the most formal occasion—or the football field—is the popular slip-on. The traditional moccasin is the theme—and its variations are very nearly unlimited! Grained leather slip-ons are new for Fall, and watch particularly for grained leathers in black. Equally smart is the wing-tip, one of this season's revivals.

TOP IT OFF WITH TWEEDS, TOO

—now that sport hats are in the fashion. The tweed cap is its most recent contribution to you. You'll find it in a wide variety of styles, in plaid, check and solid colors. Next month we'll turn the spotlight on tailored apparel, and give you The Word on suits, topsuits and town-type accessories to tie you over. See you then!

Young Women's Christian Assn.

By Mary G. Reid

Greetings from the Young Women's Christian Association of Savannah State College. Officers for the 1963-64 school year were elected as follows:

President, Hazel Johnson; Vice President, Lula P. Johnson; Secretary, Gwendolyn Sharpe; Treasurer, Jena Scott; Treasurer, Harvettine Harris; Reporter, Mary G. Reid; Advisor, Miss Loreese E. Davis.

Calendar plans and activities for the school year are being processed.

Freshmen and upper classmen, you are invited to become a member of this organization and share the many activities and plans with us. We are happy to announce that one of the organization's recent members, Miss Blanch Winfrey, will be working with us. So don't forget you have an invitation to, too.

Camilla Hubert Hall Residents Elect Officers

Residents of Camilla Hubert Hall began another school year by selecting a charming freshman French major as their queen. She is Jeannette Moore who hails from Ocala, Georgia.

Her lovely attendants are Paul Johnson, Treasurer and Blaise Ogdin, Secretary. Election of officers was held in the common room of the hall on October 15th. Dr. J. L. Gordon, Social Science professor, served in the capacity of installing officer. Rosemary Patton, a junior Physical Education major, accepted the challenging office of Chaplain. Other officers were: Fred Hunter, vice president; assistant secretary, Rosemary Patton; treasurer, Blaise Ogdin; secretary, Paul Johnson; and chaplain, Rosemary Patton.

SSC's Sunday School

By Jesse Hagans, Superintendent

The Savannah State College Sunday School officers for 1963 and 64 are Jesse Hagans, Superintendent; James Smith, Assistant Superintendent; Miss Lucille Brock, Secretary; and Miss Gwendolyn Sharpe, Assistant Secretary. Our advisors are Dr. J. L. Wilson and Dr. B. T. Griffith.

This year's Sunday School session began September 29, 1963. The lesson topic, "Our Life of Faith" was taught by Dr. B. T. Griffith. The attendance was very low and the officials of the Sunday School are hoping and strongly desiring more attendance than there has been in the past.

The Sunday School is held in Meldrim Auditorium each Sunday morning from 9: a.m. until 10:00 a.m. We hope that 1964 will be a prosperous year for the Sunday School. By your attendance and indulgence, this can be achieved.
