

CHORAL SOCIETY PRESENTS HANDEL'S "MESSIAH"

Christmas Concert in Wilcox Gym

The annual Christmas Concert at Savannah State College was presented Sunday by the Savannah State College Choral Society under the direction of Coleridge A. Braithwaite, chairman of the Department of Fine Arts at 8 o'clock in Wilcox Gymnasium on the college campus. There was ample seating for the anticipated audience which looked forward to this traditional musical event. It was open to everyone without charge.

The center of attraction for this concert was the famous oratorio by George Frederic Handel — The Messiah, a three-act portion of which was performed throughout the world during the Christmas season perhaps more often than any other musical composition in existence. The sections heard featured several soloists as well as the Choral Society.

The soprano soloists were Margaret Tison, a freshman music major from Savannah, and Juanita Moon, a senior music major also from this city. The other solos were sung by Mrs. Eudora Moore Allen, a junior music minor from Savannah. John Calvin Reed, a sophomore from Sylvania, sang the tenor solo for the first time as one of the tenor soloists. Another sophomore from Sylvania, James Weldon Johnson, likewise did a tenor solo. Joshua Walker, a sophomore from Savannah, and Launey F. Roberts Jr., a graduate and now a local public school teacher, were heard in leading bass solos. Rose Marie Forester, a junior music major from Sylvania, provided a piano accompaniment while James Thompson, Jr., a member of the Fine Arts faculty, was at the organ. Dr. Braithwaite conducted an augmented group that included members of the college Choral Society, Men's Glee Club, faculty, alumni and community sinners.

Staging for the performers was under the direction of Felix J. Alexis, Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds, the ushers were members of the Marshal Board under the supervision of Miss Atha Williams.

The music heard consisted of the following: Overture, played by Miss Overstreet and Mr. Thompson; The Recitative, Comfort Ye, sung by Mr. Reed; the tenor Air, Every Valley Shall Be Exalted, by Mr. Johnson; the chorus, And The Glory of The Lord; the bass Recitative, Thus Saith The Lord of Hosts, and the Air, But Who May Abide The Day of His Coming, both sung by Mr. Roberts; the chorus, And He Shall Purify; the alto Recitative, Behold, A Virgin Shall Conceive Sung by Mrs. Allen; the Air, And Whosoever O Thirst The Tallest Good Tidings; the bass Recitative, For, Behold, Darkness Shall Cover The Earth, and the bass Air, The People That Walked In Darkness, both sung by Mr. Walker; the chorus, For Unto Us A Child Is Born; the chorus, His Yoke Is Easy, and the chorus, Hallelujah.

Everyone enjoyed this annual event.

ANNUAL CHRISTMAS BAZAAR IS SUCCESS

The Home Economics Club sponsored its Annual Christmas Bazaar Thursday, December 7, 1961 in Hammond Hall.

Every club member was busily engaged in serving delicious barbecue chicken, ribs, and chittering dinners for seated guests, and preparing hot fish sandwiches from Brown's Sea Food Market or sending out dinners for patrons who had little time to relax over the noon hour.

The special note in the pastry goods was pink devil food and grated orange layer cakes, the velvety chocolate fudge and raisin drop cookies. The individual lemon and sweet potato pies are favorite perennials.

The freshman students are to be highly commended for their over-all participation in aiding with keeping the wheels oiled for all phases of the operating units; the sophomores for serving dinners, the juniors for handling baked good sales and take out orders and seniors for waiting.

Vernita Wright took the leadership for building decoration and music and Anna Cooper as general manager for engineering the success for the entire annual.

THE SPIRIT OF CHRISTMAS

Thanksgiving has come and gone for this year. Most of us, probably celebrated it in the usually gay manner without giving much thought to its true meaning.

We have now returned to our classes to complete the last few weeks of required study for the quarter, in jolly anticipation of the approaching Christmas holidays. Let us not make the same mistake that we made in our celebration of Thanksgiving, too much festivity and not enough reverence. Let us remember that Christmas is really the birth of Christ. It is a day that we should hold in high esteem above all others in the year. We should be thankful, especially at Christmas time, for the birth of our Savior and seize the opportunity to thank Him for all the blessings, too numerous to name, that He has bestowed upon us.

In our gift giving, let us remember the true spirit. The wise men gave gifts to our Savior because it was a tradition in their own land to give gifts to a king without a gift. The wise men knew that Christ was truly a king and the gifts that they gave Christ were given from the depths of their hearts.

Today, we have a different conception of gift giving than that of the wise men. Merchants use gift giving at Christmas time as an opportunity to augment their trade. Employees use gift giving as a means showing appreciation to their employers, but aside from this, they also give gifts as an inducement for more work from their employees. Many of us simply give gifts because others do it, without the true spirit of giving. When we exchange gifts, let us try to feel as the wise men must have felt as they gave their gifts to Christ. We must remember also that the greatest gift that we can give is our hearts. It is not the amount of money, but the thankfulness, forgiveness, brotherhood, and a mutual desire for peace and happiness among humanity.

The writer of this article is gently trying to remind the reader of the coming Christmas season and asking that we do not neglect to observe it's true meaning.

After Christmas, comes the New Year. In making our resolutions, let us not forget to include more study for the next quarter and more cooperation and togetherness with our fellow students so that we may aid in making the student body of Savannah State College truly one to be admired.

WELCOMED NEWS

President William K. Payne announces that Savannah State College has been accepted as a member of the Southern Association of Colleges, Universities and Secondary Schools, the highest accrediting agency.

Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, Inc. Sponsors Christmas Stocking Fund

The Gamma Zeta Chapter of the Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, Inc., became an official representative for the Christmas Stocking Fund on Savannah State College campus Friday. The objective of this drive is to provide a channel by which the generous, warm-hearted people on the campus may give cheer at Christmas time to our less fortunate citizens who would otherwise face a destitute and unhappy yuletide.

The Christmas Stocking Fund has the seal of approval of the Savannah Area Solicitation Review Board with R. Nondeil Coger as student general chairman and Dr. J. L. Wilson, Director of Secondary Education at Savannah State College, as faculty advisor on the campus.

The Verdict Is Yours

Savannah State College is one of the few institutions of higher learning in the southern region with such an abundance of natural beauty. Persons on a tour of the city often stop to admire the college "where grassy plains and palms abound."

And since the college is home to us, it seems only natural that we should constantly endeavor to maintain that beauty for which our college is noted.

But recently it has been observed that a large number of students leaving chapel traverse the lawn in a mad dash to the dining hall instead of using the walkways provided. Even more important, however, than the possible damage to the lawn is the indictment upon ourselves as college men and women.

Definitely, this is not the time nor the place for retrogression. And while it seems that we have learned that the shortest distance between two points is a straight line, and that one can reach his destination even faster if he runs, we ought not to forget the amenities of life. Maturity, socially acceptable conduct, and appreciation for the finer things in life are intrinsic, that is, embodied in the concept of college men and women.

The question is, therefore, are we or are we not college men and women?

It is hoped that this article and the question posed above will disturb you, the student body, so that some positive action will be taken to signify "I am growing." This is your problem. Recognize it—then do something about it. The verdict is yours.

Democracy: Declining or Ascending?

Is Democracy declining or ascending? This is a question that is pondering in the minds of practical-thinking people everywhere, where freedom of speech, religion, thought, association, and any other type of freedom that is so dear to the inhabitants of the non-Communist countries.

This reporter often contemplates this serious question. Many people wonder why an individual dares to ask such a question, when seemingly democracy is on a rapid upward movement. These complacent people are apt to be contented with our so-called democracy and disillusioned by the many advances made in our society in recent years. In America, which is the undisputed leader of the non-Communist world, we have our first Catholic president, (whether that's good or bad), a Negro cabinet member, and a Jewish cabinet member. These radical moves are unprecedented in American history, and one New Frontiersman even went as far as to predict a Negro to the presidency by the twenty-first century. I must say that I am not as optimistic. Radical moves like the former and statements as the latter tend to bring about complacency in the best of us. There are too few Americans who realize that we do not have a democracy, we have a model, and that model is not good enough. It is especially not good enough for us to propagandize our ideologies to the new and underdeveloped countries.

In a perfect democracy an individual could and would not be fired, rehired, and then severely reprimanded for taking an active part against the evils of his community and nation.

We live in a society where a president resigns, who received less popular votes than his opponent—yet in our so-called democracy the majority is supposed to prevail. While Mr. Kennedy is in office the majority of the people will suffer while he jams his extremely radical measures down our throats. In a true democracy a woman black or white, would be able to seek a local civic position without unfair tactics by her opponents to beat her.

In a true democratic society, a general would not be ostracized by his country's legislature for informing his subordinates of the evils of communism.

Again I ask, IS DEMOCRACY DECLINING OR ASCENDING? What's your opinion, sir?

In contemporary society, college students are becoming aware more than ever of syncopated jazz music which is a consequence of the ingenuity, versatility and improvisation of present day jazzmen.

Admirers of modern jazz, and its fanatics (beatniks) are deeply indebted to the pioneers of modern jazz, Charlie Parker, Dizzy Gillespie and the volatile Thelonius Monk. These men were noncomplacent during the be-bop era and consequently they rebelled in wrath against the jazz music of the early forties. By way of their instruments this triumvirate created a revolution in music. Many jazz critics believe that Monk alone initiated the revolt because of his tendency to deviate from the favorite music of the pre-war years. Dizzy and Gillespie may feel that he is still deviating, due to his absolute and complex style. I believe that Monk, with the exception of Miles Davis, is the most disliked and least understood man in jazz today.

I have no special predilection from Monk's music, because I feel that he is more of a composer than a musician, whereas one contemplates the idea, one can't help but admire the man for his endeavors. For to be a deviate or to conform against this triumvirate elements of music and still be accepted is something many musicians may never accomplish.

In 1896 death claimed the "Bird" Charlie Parker and it was felt throughout the jazz world that no one would ever fill the shoes left vacant by this immortal genius. But a few years later a young man by the name of John Coltrane was given the chance by Miles and Monk respectively to play in their combos. Subsequently Coltrane played with so much reverence and dignity that he is now by far the most acclaimed jazzman today, and the recipient of the accolade once bestowed only to Parker.

Coltrane may never fill Bird's shoes to capacity but he will undoubtedly wear the larger portion for a long time to come.

Indeed John Coltrane has perpetuated his way in a field that is as difficult as Japan's trigonometry, and his is definitely here to stay.

The Coed in Literature Class

So petite and debonaire,
So lovely and warm;
All dressed in pink and white.
On her desk are paper, pen,
apple, and books.

Wonder what's on her mind.
Is she thinking of the prof,
Standing so tall and suave,
Or is it the new fellow in class?

A visiting prof was on campus yesterday;
Boy, was he handsome, but fair.
His voice was shrill, his smile was warm as the sun,
And his gait was very smooth.

Is she thinking of what fun it would be
To be in the arms of the new math prof?
To know the taste of his inviting lips
And to feel the beat of his heart?

Wonder what is going on in her pretty head,
For it is obvious that she is preoccupied.
Despite the beautiful poem the class is discussing.
This lovely maiden's thoughts are not with the class.
Wonder what she is thinking of wearing that has not been enjoyed since the stripe-candy Nineties.

Good Leadership Based Upon Faith

By Roscoe Edwards, Jr.
Freshman Editor

What is leadership actually based on?

Leadership is mainly based upon four faiths.

The first, "Faith in God" upon which rest all worthy accomplishments of our civilization. Leaders who base their beliefs and purposes upon faith in God have survived the efforts of tyrants and dictators. They have become successful leaders, have inspired great projects and have strengthened the principals of democracy.

Secondly, good leadership depends upon the "Faith in ourselves." The well known adage "As a man thinketh in his heart, so he be," brings to light the great quality of ambition. If one thinks that he has the ability and potentially to lead, to organize and to control situations, he will prove his worth with all his energies and talents. He will develop abilities that will take care of life and which will prove essential to the preservation of human rights and personal liberties.

Our forefathers possessed "Faith in their Fellowmen," when they designed the Constitution. As leaders we too must have faith in each other. We must trust one another to do the things that will promote a good life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. Truly the faith of our pioneering ancestors was also a living and vital force of "Faith in Freedom." Good leadership must be founded upon a belief that there is a freedom to maintain. Leaders must comfort their followers in order to fortify the cause of freedom.

The one big quality of leadership is that of accepting responsibilities. For there is no leadership without sincerity, courage, and enthusiasm.

Savannah's Tennis Courts Are Opened

City-owned tennis courts have been added to a mounting list of desegregated facilities here, it was disclosed Friday. Several Negroes already have played without incident on the courts at city-owned Daffin Park. When Negroes ask to play on the courts, they will not be turned aside, said Herbert Griffin, Sr., chairman of the City Recreation Board. A. C. Smith, attendat at the courts, said officials notified him several days ago to start permitting Negroes to play on the previously all-white courts.

Savannah also has desegregated lunch counters, city buses, the public library and the municipal golf courses.

Men's Fashions

By Charlie Phillips

OUTLETS SEEN FOR STYLE SCENE

This year even more than last, the vernal style scene promises to be a harmonious blend of tradition and innovation that should provide more ample outlets for both conservative and liberal tastes.

Things to Come

The shape of things to come will change a bit, but only the perceptive eye will notice. Happily, the natural silhouette hasn't been touched, but the new jackets will be longer by a fraction than heretofore, and their lapels will be slightly wider. Waist suppression, gentle but noticeable, will be back, and you can expect to find more patch flap pockets on solid-color coats. Slacks will retain their slim and clean-lined silhouettes, but with a decline in elasticized waistbands. Belt loops will be reappearing and with them, a sumptuous variety of new belts in both leathers and fabrics. But the biggest news is the triumphant revival of stripes: candy stripes, boater stripes, awning stripes, ice cream parlor stripes. On big shirts, sweaters, swim trunks, walking shorts, belts, dress and sport shirts, they promise to infuse the style season with an atmosphere of carnival gaiety that has not been enjoyed since the stripe-candy Nineties.

SSC FACULTY COMMENDS PRESIDENT PAYNE

PRESIDENT WILLIAM K. PAYNE

At the recent December faculty meeting, the faculty of Savannah State College voted unanimously to extend commendation to President William K. Payne for his leadership in obtaining accreditation of the college by the Southern Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges. Reverend A. E. Peacock, College Minister, presented the citation which stated:

"The acceptance of Savannah State College into full membership in the Southern Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges on December 7, 1961, is noteworthy and historic. For the first time in the history of the College, it has been accepted into the circle of academic institutions on the basis of criteria applicable to all institutions in this region.

"This coveted recognition brings distinct honor not only to the faculty, students, and alumni of Savannah State College, but also to the Savannah community, to the state of Georgia and to the Southeast.

"Recognizing the significant role that your academic foresight, your inspired and inspiring leadership, and your educational statesmanship played in our achieving this coveted honor, we, the faculty, wish to express our profound appreciation to you and pledge our continued support in the years ahead. We promise our sincere and concerted efforts in maintaining and fulfilling ideals and responsibilities inherent in membership.

"With you at the helm of this ship of learning, the Dean and other administrative officers as your mates, and the faculty as crew members, we feel that we can sail with assurance through seas uncharted to realms of teaching and learning yet undiscovered."

Savannah State College 1961-62

By James Brown, Jr.

The basketball team has begun its rugged 1961-62 basketball season. The squad is under the management of Coach Ted Wright, who has had much success in guiding the team since starting five years ago. Over the last three-year period, the team has won 80 games while losing only 12; this includes winning nine championships. The same five will be the work horses of the seasons this year.

Redell (Moose) Walton, one of the starting five, is the first basketball player in the history of the school to berth All-American. Redell is a 21-year-old lad from Chicago. He averaged 25 points per game last season.

However, Walton is only one of the magnificent five. Ira Jackson, the big 6' 3" center, was the S.E.A.C. Conference's most valuable basketball player last year. He has led the team in rebounding three consecutive years. Captain James Dixon, only 5' 4" is the little general of the squad and he makes up for his height with his fine performances. Willie Tate is the player who always seems to be the man to shoot the big points when they are needed. Tate possesses one of the finest jump shots of any college player. Steve Kelly, the ball handler of the team is undoubtedly one of the finest ball handlers in any college.

A lot will be expected from Johnny Mathis, Leon Wright, Paul Thompson, Raymond Harper and Harvey Bailey this season.

The Tigers are expected to go all the way this year, so come out and cheer the team to Victory!

Charles Pratt, head of the Department of Chemistry at SSC, is performing one of his many experiments.

SSC Places Three On All-Conference Football Team

Three of the Tigers' "mighty eleven" were named All-Conference football players for the 1961 football season. The three are Henry Saunders, Fred Meyers and Benjamin Spann.

Henry Saunders is a big 6' 2" end who came to us from Tompkins High School, in Savannah, Ga. Saunders played a large part in the Tigers' attempt to receive respectability in its conference. Henry was noted for his outstanding offensive and defensive abilities.

Fred Meyers, 5' 7", 188 pounds, is a graduate from Robert Small's High School in Beaufort, S. C. Fred was undoubtedly the best fullback in the conference. He possesses four traits you find rare in one man. That is, he is big, powerful, fast and tricky. He was one of the Tigers' top ground gainers.

Benjamin Spann, made the second team, but is regarded as one of the roughest linemen in the conference. Benjamin is a graduate of the Ballard-Hudson High School in Macon, Ga. Spann is probably considered the most versatile lineman on the Tiger squad.

The S. S. C. family is proud for her All-Conference football players. Congratulations!

Poll Reveals Students Would Patronize Integrated Theaters

(UPB)—The results of a canvassing of the student body of the University of North Carolina during Brotherhood Week last month has revealed that over 80% of the students questioned (1879) at the University would continue to patronize local theaters if they were open to persons of all races.

The poll, conducted by a volunteer student group, was intended to find out if claims of theater owners that their business would fall off if they were to integrate were valid.

Students in each living unit were given a questionnaire, the completion of which was optional.

Of the 1879 returned forms, 803 (42.7%) indicated the No. 1 choice requesting the opening of the theaters to all. 28.18% checked the No. 2 alternative indicating that they would continue patronizing the theaters. 16% checked the No. 3 choice, indicating opposition to the policy but stating that they would continue patronage.

The paper also cites, as indication that theater seats are "growing cold under the present segregated arrangement" the recent practice of offering free showings to fraternity and sorority groups during prime evening hours at the Carollins Theater.

SSC Rips Benedict College, 95-82

By James Brown Jr.

The Savannah State College Tigers opened their 1961-62 basketball season last night by defeating the Benedict College Tigers 95-82 in Wiley's Gymnasium.

The seadders took the lead in the opening minutes of the game and played a lead game all the way. The returning "magnificent five" which includes Willie Tate, Ira Jackson, Steve Kelly, James Dixon and Redell Walton led the seadders' attack.

Last season Benedict was one of the few teams that was able to stop the Savannah State College's thundering offensive attack. However, it was Benedict that stooped to State in the final N.A.A. District 8 tournament in Atlanta, Ga., last year.

The high scorer for Benedict and the game was Artie Burke, who poured in 27 points.

Savannah State's high man were Willie Tate with 24 points, and Ira Jackson with 20 points. Steve Kelly led the team in assists.

Equipe's CLUB & CAMPUS FASHIONS

BY D. E. SCHOEFFLER, Equipe's Fashion Director

With the holiday season approaching, you'll be dressing formally with increasing frequency. Let's review what's new and correct in campus formal wear so you'll be at ease and in fashion at fraternity and sorority dances and at the many gala parties ahead.

YOUR JACKET'S A NATURAL... The correct and smart silhouette for campus formal wear is the natural shoulder, single breasted dinner jacket with black satin shawl collar. The high fashion peak lapel model is also being worn by some undergraduates.

FABRICS ARE LIGHT... Lightweight formal wear makes sense in any season. The heavy weight, old fashioned "tux" made formal evenings a chore rather than a pleasure. A few hours spent dancing in stuffy, overcrowded, overheated ballrooms was enough to take the starch out of the hardest college man. Modern, light weight fabrics have changed all that. Dinner jackets are comfortable and going formal is fun. This season's favored formal fabrics will be dull finish tropical worsteds and dacron/ rayon blends.

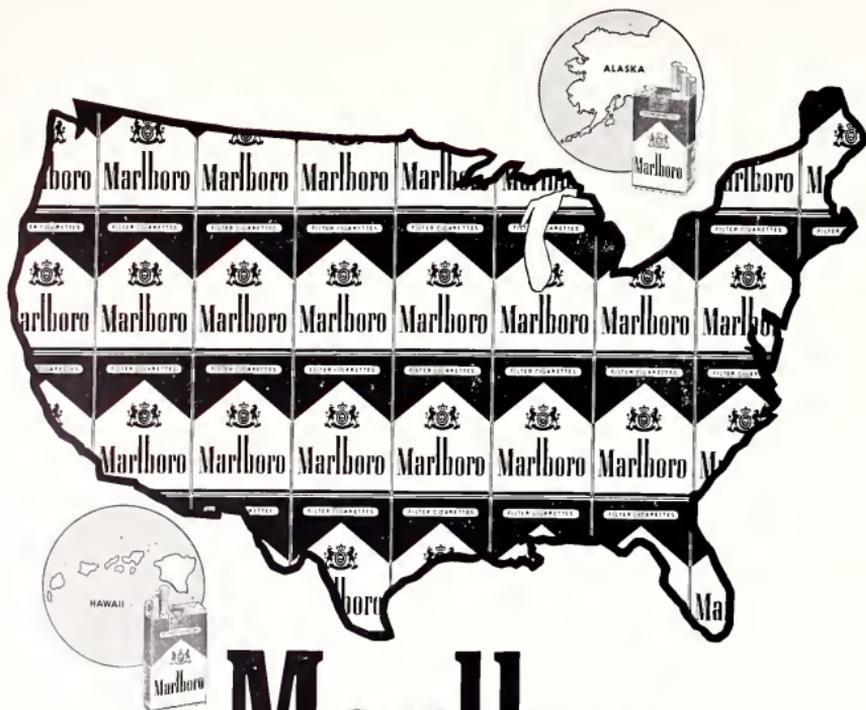

GO VEST, YOUNG MAN... Just as vests have made a comeback in suits, and with sport jackets and slacks, you'll see more vests with formal attire. An elegant vest in matching or fancy fabric is just the added touch to boost your rating along sorority row. Pictured is the single breasted shawl collar vest in black with satin lapels and three buttons; it's made of dacron and acetate.

PLEATED SATIN CUMMERBUND AND MATCHING TIE are the smart formal wear accessories that will make you a standout on the stag line. Your dress shirt is either pleated bosom or plain front. Shirt studs are usually black pearl with cuff links to match.

FORMAL FOOTWEAR... Whether your forte is the Pachanga, Charanga, Cha Cha Cha or trusty Fox Trot, you should keep in step with black patent leather in either plain tip or slip on model. Highly polished calf skin shoes are a smart alternate. Plain black or midnight blue are the correct colors in formal wear hose.

LET'S GET AWAY FROM IT ALL... Holiday formal wear at resorts is white and/or bright. The white wash and wear dinner jacket in blends of rayon and acetate or dacron and rayon is smart and practical. Styling is in the shawl collar. You can also make a colorful vacation splash in plaid cotton or batik dinner jackets.

Marlboro_

campus favorite in all 50 states!

*...It's a top seller at colleges from U.S.C. to Yale
...and 1st in the Flip-Top box in every single state*

If you think you're seeing more Marlboro men lately, you're right. More than 25,000 smokers all over the country are switching to Marlboro every month!

You'll know why when you try them.

Marlboro is the filter cigarette with the unfiltered taste. The secret of the flavor is the famous Marlboro recipe from Richmond, Virginia... and the pure white Selectrate filter that goes with it.

Try Marlboro and judge for yourself. On or off campus, you get a lot to like.
